WILSON WELCOMED AT NEW YORK

LANDLORDS MAY FACE COURT

Nuisances Found on Premises by Inspector Must Be Corrected Promptly

The arm of the law reached out today to the Webster-Jordan Company, the Back Bay real estate agents who attempted, in printed notices, to intimidate tenants, when Health Commissioner William C. Woodward sent the firm formal notice that unless certain nuisances found on their premises were corrected within five days they would be haled into court and prosecuted for violating of municipal health laws.

An inspector connected with the city health department inspected the building, No. 212 Huntington avenue today, as the result of a specific nuisance complaint lodged by a tenant.

This inspector is the first of the apartment houses controlled by the Webster-Jordan company visited, found a toilet in the basement which he reported to be a menace to health, and found nailed a window that should be free and open.

The inspector immediately reported these nuisances to Health Commissioner Woodward, who served notice on the company at its offices, No. 220 St. Botolph street, that the nuisances must be removed at once, under penalty of the law.

Other toilets and bathrooms in buildings owned by the Webster-Jordan Company are reported by tenants to be unsanitary with old-fashioned closed plumbing.

Tenants are up in arms. They have been invited by Health Commissioner Woodward to report every defect

ROTTERDAM STEAMSHIP SINKS FISHING VESSEL

New York, July 8—The thirty-five-ton gasoline fishing schooner Edmund F. Black was sunk in collision with the steamship Magnhook from Rotterdam, off the Georges Banks Sunday, it became known today, when the Magunkook arrived here with the crew of eight men of the schooner. There was no loss of life.

YEOMAN (F) FORCE TO BE TRIMMED ONE-HALF

More woe for the yeomen (F)! On top of the refusal of the State Legislature to include them in the $100 bonus, came the order today to the commandant of the First Naval District to immediately cut the yeoman (F) force half 50 per cent. Enlisted personnel in other branches also will be cut 50 per cent. It is believed that about 200 girls will be affected.

"In This Crisis We Need Two-Fisted Americanism," Says Johnson

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, denouncing President Wilson at Faneuil Hall. He was roundly cheered and the name of the President was hissed.

Woodrow Wilson was portrayed as "selling out his country" and the League of Nations was characterized as a document aimed to serve the interests of England, France, Italy and Japan at the expense of the United States by Senator Hiram W. Johnson of California, speaking in Faneuil Hall today.

His audience cheered the Senator to the echo, and the mention of the President's name was greeted by prolonged hissing.

Faneuil Hall fairly rocked when Senator Johnson is closing exclaimed:

"Mr. Wilson owes us an explanation. Let us hope when he lands today in

BARS WIDE OPEN; CITY IS 'WET'

More Than 900 Special Licenses Taken Out; Owners Heedless of Warning

Practically every dispensary of liquor in Boston was opened today for the sale of 2.75 per cent. beer, ale and porter, with the proprietors heedless of threatened Federal prosecution.

More than 440 additional licenses were taken out today, bringing the total to more than 900, and contributing to the city treasury through Collector Frank S. Deland about $224,000 more.

Joseph P. Lyons of the City Law Department denied that the license money would be refunded in case of government action against the dealers.

Early today the offices of the Licensing Board were again crowded with applicants who had been tardy, each man rushing to his place of business and dinging it open as soon as the necessary procedure was undertaken.

Owing to the rush of the first day all the proprietors were unable to secure licenses, but this deficiency was made up today. In the case of the hotels, as well as a number of the more popular bars, first class licenses were secured. This was explained by one proprietor, who said:

"If the man should be lifted, I can have my bartender put a bottle of whisky right on the bar without any waiting."

All through the lower downtown section of the city early today brewery wagons were hurrying from one liquor dispensary to another, replenishing the stocks which had been allowed to run out. Some of the more far-sighted of the liquor dealers had secured their supplies in advance, while others were stocked up with "near beers," which it was claimed they foisted upon the public as the real two and three-quarters per cent.

There was no police activity early

McKNIGHT IS HIT AS BANKER

Cambridge Fund Withdrawn Because of Senator's Attitude Toward De Valera

City Treasurer Henry F. Lehan of Cambridge has withdrawn all public funds of Cambridge, amounting to $500,000 annually, from the Fidelity Trust Company and another bank trust company partially controlled by Edward T. McKnight because of Mr. McKnight's attitude as president of the State Senate toward Eamon De Valera, president of the Irish republic.

Mr. Lehan declared that he considered Mr. McKnight's attitude as un-American in the extreme and that while he was city treasurer he would try to keep the public money of Cambridge out of the senator's hands. He added that he alone was responsible for the move, but that he knew he had the backing of the entire city government.

The action of City Treasurer Lehan is the first of its kind although at the time that Senator McKnight opposed giving President De Valera the opportunity to address the Massachusetts Senate there were rumors of other withdrawals from the McKnight banks by those in sympathy with Irish independence.

Mr. Lehan stated that as head of the financial department of the Cambridge city government he annually sent through the Fidelity Trust Company and the other McKnight bank $50,000 in current funds. This sum constantly fluctuated.

"With the record of my city during President De Valera's stay I could not conscientiously keep the funds of all the people where such a man would benefit," declared the city treasurer. "Our city government unanimously went on record in favor of De Valera and the case of liberty which he represents. I believe that a referendum would show my course has the overwhelming support of the people."

WARSHIPS' GUNS ROAR IN SALUTE

Vice-President Marshall and Cabinet Members Meet the President's Party

By International News Service.

New York, July 8—Escorted by five dreadnoughts and a number of destroyers, the transport George Washington, bearing President Wilson home from Europe, passed Ambrose lightship, sixteen miles from the Battery, at 10:30 a. m. today and steamed up the lower bay amid the booming of battleship salutes.

As the George Washington, convoyed by the Oklahoma and the four destroyers which had accompanied her from Brest, arrived off the lightship she was met by the presidential Pennsylvania, Utah, Delaware and North Dakota, which formed two lines through which the transport passed.

The big guns of the Pennsylvania, flagship of Admiral Wilson, commanding the Atlantic fleet, roared in salute as the George Washington came abreast with the presidential party all on deck. The Utah, Delaware and North Dakota also broke forth with twenty-one gun salutes.

The Pennsylvania, carrying Vice-President Marshall, members of the Cabinet and a delegation of Democratic congressmen, headed for Quarantine Creek, swung about the George Washington in a wide circle and took the lead, heading up the upper bay toward quarantine.

DEALERS, DEFIANT, READY TO FACE A TEST CASE

in the day, or any evidence that disposers of the illegal stuff would be prosecuted.

READY FOR TEST CASE.

The majority of the proprietors, however, said that the government intends to make a few test cases, basing its action on the statement of Assistant United States District Attorney Lewis A. Goldberg. They feel, however, that there will be no delay in the cases involved, but that dealers generally will be quickly prosecuted if they persist in defying the brewing interests.

No one seems to know as yet what effect, if any, the new enforcement will have on the fines imposed after a conviction is obtained, but it will probably be made clear in the cases of Pat Riley and Jack Avery, arrested for violation of the prohibition law. Like hundreds of others, they have been fined $100 each. They have assured friends that while they are talking safe talk now, they will "soak the suckers" after the dust has settled and their trade has returned to them.

"What's the difference regarding this question among the dealers of the city?" one of them said. "It's good many of them are making 2.75 per cent. now is responsible for the present agitation. The thing they should have secured a special license for permitting me to sell 2.75 per cent. beer. Then I could have kept on selling it legally, my license is as good as a bond, and cheaper than the present one, which cost me $1,000."

"STAND TO LOSE $1,000."

"In the same way, if I decide to surrender my license and not sell any kind of beer, and I have only $1,000 invested, I stand to lose that amount. If demobilization declares it will be in a position to take advantage of it immediately."

While there are some who complain that some dealers were getting more than their fair share of the business, complaints were registered to the effect that "own source" was the source of the majority who voted 2.75 per cent. the popular temperature that it should be sold. As the day drew nearer, furthermore, the number of dealers who decided to close the meeting, and as a result the traffic before 8:30 A. M. was fair brisk.

Among those who were on the job early were Thomas Waters, Jack Avery, Dominick Vagal, while both Tight Young's were closed tight. Tom Sullivan, on Court street, was wide open, with more stock loading on as was French's on Hanover street.

At the Quincy House two bartenders were on duty, while the Cra word House bar was also ready for a frosty one. The Parker House, Wellington, Touraine, Bromfield House, Tremont House and Young's were open, as was the Bromfield House, but side entrance of the Winter House bar was closed, but side entrance was ready.

At the Adams House a white-coated bartender was busily engaged polishing the glasses and waiting for trade. At the Quincy House barkeepers were entertaining themselves with beer. The others included the Hotel Avery, Dominick's, De Proose, the Thorndike and the Nip.

Even the beer goods of the grain, is too darned new.

That criticism, or others to the same effect, was heard in many a respectable saloon today from expert beer drinkers.

Complaint was made that much of the beer lastly put on tap was any thing but palatable. Some places were fortunate enough to have obtained old stock—some doubtless having been laid away before July 1—but were able to suit the discriminating tastes of most patrons. Saloonkeepers, generally, in Boston, saloonkeepers did not all reopen, one dealer said, "it would be silly, as we would simply quarters put our stuff in no trace of it could."

TASTES LIKE A STRAW HAT.

One saloonkeeper, a customer who went hopefully into his regular place drank half a glass of the two brands of liquid, came out and delivered himself thus:

"That stuff tastes as though it were composed of old straw hats. I'd rather take chances with the policeman than with a second class beer. If they only sold a man might down a real ball, but stand a small glass of that beer for a quarter. There would be some sense in the ball anyway, but as it is, it's a rotten deal."

A bartender observed: "We get a lot of kicks. Some customers claim we are putting something over on them, that our beer is not 2¾ per cent. They say we are giving them near-beer that isn't even beer."

One place in the market district advertised a standard brand of imported beer, but customers reported that, whenever a call was made for it, that particular ale was "just out."

DORCHESTER HEARD FROM.

Before noontime all the Dorchester bars had re-opened, together with several bottled goods houses, all selling the 2¾ per cent. beer, ale and porter.

The action of the other dealers was followed more slowly in Brighton, Allston, Coolidge and Roxbury. At Roxbury Crossing only two bars had opened by noon, but it was expected that the others would be doing business before night.

In Germantown, Murphy & Co. disposed bottled 2.75 per cent. beer, as did two places in Jamaica Plain, together with four bars.

Dealers in Revere, however, declared practically all the dealers would be received their licenses by night, so that they would come for wine to apply for them.

Few of the saloons East Boston opened today owing to the fact that dealers had not received their second class licenses. Of the five first class licenses granted Noddle Island and seven wholesale licenses, only one of the latter and four second class licenses to sell beer, beer and light wines, were in operation today. The Maverick square, who has applied a first class license.

None of the seven wholesalers is open for business today, as they do not received licenses.

"SAMPLED" BY TEETOTALER.

The bar in the Maverick theatre and that in the American House near the North Ferry were open, but did a slim business during the hour. Other saloons were poorly patronized in the morning. Saloons along the waterfront looked for a big business later in the day.

Captain Jeanes of Hickey of East Boston station, who not touched a drop, had the novel experience today of tasting all the samples of the district sampling the beer sale.

But—

The "Cops" did not taste it, only the samples given in bottles. Chemist to examine. The major of the dealers notified Capt. Hickey that he would open today or as soon as they secured licenses.

Saloons in Chelsea were closed tight. The new licenses have not been issued to any of the dealers in that city to date. The Chelsea Herald went out last night and fixed the price of second class license at $200, the same as in Boston.

Previously Chelsea had only first class liquor licenses for retailing quarts of intoxicants. Fourth class for wholesalers and fifth class for druggists. The new licenses in Chelsea will be second and fourth only.

Charge Man Caught in Act of Robbing B. & M. Station

Handkerchiefs containing dozens of several thousand dollars and nearly $100 cash were found on Dominick Alphonso, 21, "Westchester" of Water street, when he was arrested, it is charged in the act of robbing the Boston & Maine station at Wakefield. Dominick was arraigned at the police court this morning before Patrolman Fred J. Hall. A loaded revolver was found on the prisoner.

D'Alphonso himself furnished bail in the sum of $1,000, but was immediately rearrested, a search of his room netting the covered clothing and other merchandise, which the police say was stolen. The police charge that D'Alphonso is responsible for numerous burglaries in Wakefield during the past year.

ELKS MUST OBEY LIQUOR LAWS, RULER SAYS

Bruce Campbell, Retiring Head of the Organization, Issues Report to Followers

By International News Service.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 8.—Members of the Order of Elks must not seek to evade the prohibition laws, Bruce A. Campbell, retiring grand exalted ruler, declared in his final report to the national convention here today.

"Every Elk is entitled to his views as to the propriety of prohibition laws," he said, "but as to the question of obedience to them, all Elks can and must have but one opinion and that is that we must all unite to observe the law.

"We must make ourselves as emphatically opposed to Bolshevism and we must pledge ourselves to aid in every possible way the forces for law and order."

Representative Evangeline C. Booth of the Salvation Army, the first woman ever invited to speak before the grand lodge, today thanked the Elks for their support of the Salvation Army in the recent campaign.

Los Angeles was dropped out of contest for the 1920 convention, leaving the field between Chicago, Minneapolis and Atlantic City. It is said Los Angeles will be supported by the winner for the 1921 convention.

WILSON'S NAME IS HISSED IN FANEUIL HALL

Senator Johnson Is Roundly Applauded as He Denounces League of Nations

New York he will give it, if not thank God, there are enough red-blooded men left in Washington to get it, even though the rebels calls for race-hated Americanism.

Senator Johnson then read the Monroe Doctrine.

Senator Johnson said:

"As ex-president, who is covered by the protection of presidential office, Mr. Wilson can invoke the Monroe Doctrine has been incorporated in the League of Nations Covenant. The Monroe Doctrine can not be internationalized. It is an American policy belonging to the American alone. It has been our national shield for more than one hundred years. Any attempt to change it creates in every patriotic American heart the feeling for protagonists of the League of Nations to speak of its constructive criticism of that document. We are entitled to criticize it. Incapacity it is sufficient for every well-minded American to know that a people's league of nations based upon contempt by their public servants as the American people have and upon the repudiation of that document dealing with its blood and to be done down up in secret, without so much as a single word from the American people, and with any genuine answer on the subject withheld from them.

U. S. NOT BENEFITED.

It is the most remarkable proposition the world has ever known to ever see. May God preserve us from any such a presentation!

"Public sentiment has been aroused to perpetuate peace and to prevent war. It is perfectly legitimate public sentiment. But when it comes to this covenant, wrecking or violently from our traditions, commandering our blood and bone, the question is, Shall American blood police the world? Shall American boys be called upon to preserve the boundaries of the British Empire and the Japanese Empire? And that this is the question before the American people I am prepared to deny. I am not opposed to the League of Nations in Washington.

"The president binds your sons and your sons' sons to maintain the integrity of the entire world. Look at the scene abroad. There sit England, France, Italy and Japan, all with selfish aims. Not one but only one who has benefited not a bit in territorial acquisitions is Uncle Sam. We ask naught by way of reward for what we have done, nor do we ask for punishment, or liquidation. We are the great creditor nation of the world, sitting face to face with our debtors, gorged with territories and peoples.

"The question for the other nations now is how to safeguard their gains. What more natural than they should turn to the only man among them who is solvent? What more natural than that they should say to themselves, 'Well let the burden of protecting our gains upon the only man who gains nothing.' It is a partnership between a strong, solvent concern and four bankrupts.

"We hear a great deal from lachrymose orators favoring the League of Nations to this effect: 'Shall our boys who lie in Flanders Fields have died in vain?' Shall their supreme sacrifice have been in vain?' And my answer is this: Their sacrifice is in vain if, in 'making the world safe for democracy' we have lost the democracy of the United States of America.

"ARTICLE TEN INFAMOUS."

"The most infamous thing ever foisted upon the American people is Article Ten of the League of Nations. It is the very essence of the prison of American liberty, and of the whole structure of the League of Nations.

Senator Johnson then went into his speech, drawing a parallel between Europe a hundred years ago and the world today.

"Napoleon," he said, "cynically carved with his sword the map of Europe, but at least to his credit it must be said that he did it with a sword and not by means of high-sounding platitudes.

"The Englishman who wrote Article

MILAN—Philip Scheidemann, former premier of Germany, has arrived at Brissago, Switzerland, at Lake Maggiore, for a month's rest.

PARIS—The Norwegian government has made informal claim before the peace conference for possession of Spitzbergen, it was learned today. Spitzbergen comprises a group of islands in the Arctic.

PARIS—Austria may be admitted into the League of Nations in October. That was the belief today on the eve of the presentation of the remaining peace terms to the Austrian delegation.

10 of the League of Nations, by which the signatory powers pledge themselves to rush to each other's aid at the slightest hint of danger, knew what was going on. He knew that he was committing the United States of America to aid in suppressing rebellion in any part of the vast British Empire.

"The Monroe Doctrine was called forth by a League of Nations similar to that to which the American people are asked to subscribe.

DENIES U. S. ISOLATED.

"Protagonists of the League of Nations tell us the time for our isolated isolation is past. We must make the supreme sacrifice and throw in our fortunes with the rest of the world. They should have said 'throw our fortunes in the rest of the world.' We are not isolated. We have never been isolated except from changing alliances. Our isolation has never been social, commercial or financial. The United States has always been in touch with world events.

"What we demand is that the United States for the United States shall determine when we enter into any war.

"The United States has never failed in its duty to humanity. It will never fail. On Nov. 11, 1918, when the armistice was signed, this land of ours looked up to by every nation in the world.

Borah and Lodge on Senate Committee to Greet the President

By International News Service.

Washington, July 8.—One of the first Senators President Wilson will meet face to face on his arrival at the capital on Thursday may be Borah of Idaho, who has repeatedly declared that he "would never agree to the proposed entry of the United States into the League of Nations."

Borah was this afternoon named a member of the Senate committee designated by Senator Cummins, presiding officer of the Senate, to greet the President when he reaches the Senate chamber. The other members named were Lodge of Massachusetts and McCumber of North Dakota, Republicans, and Hitchcock of Nebraska and Williams of Mississippi, Democrats.

The Senate unanimously adopted a resolution sponsored by Lodge informing the President that the Senate would be ready to receive him in open session on Thursday. Owing to the absence of Vice-President Marshall, the duty of naming the committee fell on Cummins. Although it was understood that the make-up had been previously agreed to by Lodge as majority leader and Hitchcock as acting minority leader.

R-34 WILL START HOME BY DAWN TOMORROW

Only Bad Weather Will Hold Dirigible Longer at Mineola Field

By International News Service.

Mineola, L. I., July 8.—The British dirigible R-34 will start on the 3,500-mile trip back to her base in Scotland between 11 o'clock tonight and 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, barring unexpected changes in the weather.

This announcement was made today by Major J. E. M. Pritchard, in charge of the dirigible overnight, following the inspection of the big craft earlier that the trans-Atlantic airship could not be made ready for the start this morning.

"We could not complete the work of overhauling the engines in time to let her away tonight," said Major Pritchard. "There were quite a number of minor troubles with the engines when we arrived. These repairs will be completed before night. We will push off from the 5 o'clock tomorrow morning, unless the weather reports are extremely bad.

Before the R-34 signed her getaway the weather report will be scanned carefully. If the weather appears favorable at the start, Major Scott, the airship's commander, probably will take the northern route, about 60 miles north of the Azores, but if strong winds are blowing in an unfavorable direction she will return over the same route by which she came. She will carry about 1,000 gallons less gasoline on the return trip than on the voyage to America, counting upon westerly winds to push her along.

British and American aviation officials assembled in the R-34 received two distinct scares early today when the rear of the great airship twice settled to the ground and her gondolas bumped the earth, and it was feared for a moment that the stern of the big ship was about to be severely damaged.

Several men were ordered aboard to release water ballast at the stern. After they had been at work a few minutes the strain came to a correct position and the danger was over. After sunrise the big dirigible was hauled out and secured to the earth to avoid a duplication of yesterday's accident in which her envelope was ripped.

Officers and crew of the R-34 are extremely anxious to get started on the homeward trip. Every hour they stay at Roosevelt field decreases their chances of getting away, it is declared today. The lack of a hangar sufficiently large to house the big ship keeps her constantly exposed to the elements, and the danger of being battered up through storms and high winds.

Prohibition Debate to Be Restricted by Special Rule in the National House

By International News Service.

Washington, July 8.—Prohibition legislation was taken up in the House this afternoon following conferences among House Republican leaders. The House Rules Committee at a hurried session decided to bring out a special rule restricting debate on the prohibition enforcement bill to twelve hours, providing then for consideration of the bill section by section, for amendments and the placing of the measure with all amendments on passage with but one intervening motion for a separate vote on any section. It is expected to recommit the bill to its committee for further changes.

The action was taken by the committee on suggestion that it bring out a special rule separating the prohibition enforcement from the constitutional enforcement provisions of the bill. It is believed that in this way it will make it difficult to bring about a separation of the measure later, even should it be decided upon, and indications were that one general bill would carry all the prohibition legislation to be submitted at this session.

Representative Randall gave notice that he would endeavor to amend the "pending" bill so as to keep in force war-time prohibition until the ratification of constitutional prohibition, thereby bridging the gap between the time when "war-time" drinking may be raised by the President proclaiming demobilization terminated and January 16 next, when national prohibition goes into effect. The legislation such an amendment will be challenged by the "wets" in the hope that it will be ruled out of order.

SOMERVILLE 'BETSY ROSS' IS 98 YEARS OLD TODAY

Mrs. Mary J. Whitney, "the Betsy Ross of Somerville," celebrated her 98th birthday today, holding court in the Somerville Home for the Aged. Many friends called, while a huge basket of mail was received. Mrs. Whitney, who recently finished embroidering all the flags which fly from the municipal buildings of Somerville, is in almost perfect health. She discussed such recent events as prohibition, the League of Nations and woman suffrage with interest, and was confident she would live to be 100. The birthday cake made for her had 98 candles as decoration, with ninety-eight small silk American flags.

SLAYER NEW IS HAUNTED BY VISIONS OF HIS DEAD SWEETHEART

MUST FACE CHARGE OF MURDER

Blames Nurse, Who Made His Fiancee Fearful of Motherhood, for Tragedy

By International News Service.

Los Angeles, Cal., July 8.—Harry S. New, Jr., confessed slayer of his twenty-year-old fiance, Freda Lesser, in lonely Topanga canyon early Saturday morning, will be formally charged with first degree murder.

The complaint will be asked for following the autopsy on the body of Freda Lesser and the inquest this afternoon.

New spent another sleepless night, haunted by visions of the dead girl. He is near collapse and may not be able to stand the ordeal of the inquest, as he had slept little or none since he was arrested at 5:30 Saturday morning, when he brought the body of his victim to the police station and calmly announced he had murdered his sweetheart.

SPECIAL GUARD FOR NEW.

Owing to threats that have been made against the life of New by friends of the dead girl, a special guard of detectives has been asked for him today at the autopsy and inquest. New is not afraid, however, declaring he would welcome death. He said today he was sorry he had not turned the gun upon himself after the shooting of his sweetheart.

During the night he continually consulted the jailer and special guard that is kept with him always to prevent him taking his life, about gas. Soon how they are constructed in California, and how long it takes death to come after the trap is sprung.

New was represented by an attorney, John Richardson, today. He has not given up hope that Senator New of Indiana, who, he claims, is his father will come to his aid.

"My father always helped me," he said. "And he will not stand aside at this moment in my life. He will not stand aside and see my mother fight for my life practically helpless and penniless. God, how I hate to face my mother when she arrives tomorrow."

NURSE IS NAMED.

Whether the whole fabric of the story told by New regarding the conception of Freda Lesser was to be torn away will be decided at the autopsy to be performed on the body of the girl by Dr. A. F. Wagner, county surgeon. If New's statement that the girl was to have become a mother is proven true, a nurse whose name the police have and who, according to his story, influenced the girl to spurn marriage and consent to undergo an operation, will be forced to detail the story Miss Lesser told her.

This story may throw an entirely new light on the case. A nurse giving her name as Miss Saunders, and who lives near the home of Mrs. Alice Lesser, mother of the slain girl, admitted she is the woman New referred to, and gave out a statement that the report that Miss Lesser was in a delicate condition before she met death was false.

PUTS BLAME ON NURSE.

New charges a nurse with being responsible for the tragedy, declaring that it was this woman whose influence made the girl determine to avoid motherhood.

The name of Senator New will be brought before the court, it is indicated, by the slayer's lawyer. Possibly no legal case has before presented so complex a problem.

Alienists who prepare the hypothetical question upon which will be predicated the defendant's sanity will, it was stated by New's attorney, refer with elaboration to his birth and the influence which knowledge of his birth has had upon him. A defence without this element, it is admitted, would be extremely weak.

Developments have clearly brought out that the first shot told by New will be that given out by the jury to hear—that is—that he shot his fiancee because she had told him she was going to evade motherhood.

And his last statement—that he fired a bullet into her brain because she had said she would never marry him—will be discarded in so far as the defence may be able to set aside words that have been uttered and written for a record.

Attorney Richardson, who has been employed temporarily in New's behalf, made this plain when a correspondent for Universal Service was questioning his client. The question which developed the defence theory was this:

"Did Freda say she didn't love you just before you shot her?"

"Don't answer that question," Richardson interposed. "It is an accusation that she said she didn't love you. Any questions about her purpose to have an operation performed will be allowed."

WEAKENING UNDER STRAIN.

It was later revealed that the effort to save New from conviction will will dwell with emphasis with the irresponsible madness which came over him when Frieda finally and irrevocably said she would not become a mother.

According to the attorney, his motive for shooting her out of this consideration has presented itself as being more defensible and as landing itself more forcibly to the theory of insanity than her refusal to marry him.

That he wants to live solely for the sake of his mother and sister is New's repeated declaration.

"I must have been insane when I shot the girl I loved, but I wouldn't lift a finger nor raise my voice to defend myself if it were not for the ones I love."

New was plainly more harrassed mentally than he was yesterday.

"It's this way," he said. "The child was as much mine as hers. It was born together. When I first learned of this she was to be the mother of my child my love for her increased wonderfully. She had borne of an interest for me by far than she had ever had before although I had loved her.

WANTED TO GET MARRIED.

"This feeling with her grew day by day and I was always thinking of her and the child together. I was thinking how we would get married and the baby would be born and be ours.

"So we had been thinking that way too. But suddenly she told me that the baby must be avoided. I couldn't understand, then, why.

"She didn't tell me that though because she didn't love me. I could never believe that. She loved me up to the last, but she got that idea into her head about the operation and I could not get it out.

"That nurse must be at the bottom of Freda's awful change. If Freda hadn't been influenced by some other person she never would have thought of such a thing."

Now that it is fairly established what New's plea is to be, the condition of the girl becomes of supreme importance. The autopsy to be performed by Dr. A. F. Wagner, county surgeon, will determine this question.

DEFENCE OPENS IN SCIENTISTS' EQUITY SUIT

Courtroom Crowded with Fashionably Dressed Women as Interest in Trial Grows

[illegible] defence began at [illegible] of women filled the [illegible] of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Falmouth street, Boston, when the hearing on the petition for the removal of the trustees of the Publishing Society, the Board of Lectureship and the Board of Education was resumed this morning. The attendance was so large that it filled and standing room [illegible] many persons were unable to get into the auditorium and most any other hearing that could be found in connection with the case would have been crowded and followed with keen interest.

The petitions are upon the bill in equity brought by H. W. Pinkham and others against the trustees of the Christian Science Publishing Society. Against Adam H. Dickey and other directors of the Publishing Society, the petitioning trustees seek to have the directors restrained from the exercising of their functions as directors of the Publishing Society. The trustees say that Mr. Dickey and others from Mrs. Mary Baker G. Eddy, founder of the church, have become independent of action. The trustees also ask that Mr. Dickey and others be removed from Mrs. Eddy, they are supreme and have full control of the Publishing Society, the Board of Lectureship and the Board of Education.

CLERK JOHNSON A WITNESS.

The first witness today for the respondents (church directors) was Archibald McLellan Johnson, assistant clerk of the Christian Science Society and son of William R. Johnson, clerk of the church. Mr. Johnson was put on the stand by Attorney A. A. Sargent counsel for the trustees. He identified three sets of records of church meetings. He also identified the minutes of meetings which were signed by his father. They related to church meetings from the first meeting, held on Dec. 23, 1903, up to the 1914 meetings.

Mr. Dunne read reports from these records. Reading of the record of a meeting held on Dec. 23, 1903, one week after the first meeting, showed only 24 persons signing their names as members. The record of another meeting a little later this number had grown to 42.

As an early meeting the famous "Rule 7" was adopted, that only testimonies of Mrs. Eddy should be added to the Bible text book.

In this record reading there was an exchange between Mr. Dunne and Sherman L. Whipple, counsel for the trustees. Mr. Whipple said it was very important that all the records should be verified to ascertain the dates. He questioned whether the last record entry was for 1913 or 1914. Mr. Whipple also said that one of the chief points of controversy was as to whether the by-laws of the church society gradually lost their control of its affairs.

MR. WHIPPLE INTERRUPTS.

Mr. Dunne started to read from the record of May 4, 1895. Mr. Whipple sought the special reason for this, saying: "Do you offer it to show that this was a voluntary organization or individuals who laid down certain rules for their guidance?"

Mr. Dunne said: "I do not think we are required to argue our legal contentions at this time."

He said the record was necessary to the directors' case.

Mr. Dunne introduced a certified copy of the articles of church incorporation, April 2, 1897.

COOL UNTIL THURSDAY; THEN MERCURY RISES

The present seasonable weather will prevail until Thursday, at which time there will be a rise in the mercury, Weather Forecaster Smith stated today.

The official forecast was:

"Fair and little change in temperature tonight and Wednesday; moderate north to northeast winds."

Mr. Smith said that even on Thursday there would be no excessive heat, but the mercury will climb a few degrees. The lowest temperature in New England at 8 o'clock today was 50 at Eastport, Me., and the highest 82 at Block Island.

CAPTURE RUNAWAY MONKEY IN TREE

North Adams, July 8.—One of the two monkeys which escaped from the carnival was captured by Fred Scarbo, who climbed a 60-foot elm tree with a pair of friend's crowbars. He waited for an hour and slipped a noose over the monk's feet, bringing him fighting and snarling to the ground.

The other monkey is still in the tree.

BENCH AND BAR GIVE $9,988 TO IRISH FUND

Paul F. Spain, treasurer of the bench and bar committee of the Irish Freedom fund organization, reported that the final amount collected by the committee in aid of the Irish fund is $9,988.34.

The money collected at the great mass meeting at Fenway Park Sunday afternoon, June 29, amounted to $3,994.24. In addition, there were received at this meeting two checks for $2,500.

Rome, July 8.—Five persons were injured in anti-French demonstrations at Fiume, says a dispatch to the Giornale d'Italia.

Italian soldiers took part. A cafe was wrecked by a mob which shouted: "Throw out the French."

Ten Commandments Too Long; Rewritten for Episcopal Church

[illegible] the Ten Commandments [illegible] have been shortened.

[illegible] that in the present form the Decalogue is too long a brief [illegible] has been drawn up for the Episcopal churches in America, [illegible] an unpublished report of the prayer book committee, which [illegible] submitted to the General Convention in Detroit in October. It [illegible] stated that the Church of England will soon accept the shorter [illegible]

Here are the old and the new forms of the Decalogue, according to the report:

NEW FORM.

I—Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with [illegible] and thy neighbor as thyself.

II—Thou shalt have no other gods but [illegible]

III—Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain. For the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his Name in vain.

IV—Remember that thou keep holy the Sabbath day. Six days shalt thou labor, and do all that thou hast to do, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord. In it thou shalt do no manner of work thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, thy manservant, and thy maidservant, and thy stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that in them is, and rested the seventh day, wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.

V—Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

VI—Thou shalt do no murder.

VII—Thou shalt not commit adultery.

VIII—Thou shalt not steal.

IX—Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

X—Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet his neighbor's wife, nor his servant, nor his maid, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is his.

OLD FORM.

I—And spake these words and said: I am the Lord thy God. Thou shalt have none other gods but me.

II—Thou shalt not make to thyself any graven image, nor the likeness of anything that is in heaven above or in the earth beneath or in the water under the earth; thou shalt not bow down to them nor worship them; for I, the Lord thy God, am a jealous God and visit the sins of the fathers upon the children unto the third and fourth generations of them that hate me, and show mercy unto thousands in them that love me and keep my commandments.

III—Thou shalt not take the name of the Lord thy God in vain; for the Lord will not hold him guiltless that taketh his Name in vain.

IV—Remember that thou keep the Sabbath day. Six days shalt thou labor and do all that thou hast to do, but the seventh day is the Sabbath of the Lord thy God; in it thou shalt do no manner of work—thou, and thy son, and thy daughter, thy manservant, and thy maidservant, and thy cattle, and thy stranger that is within thy gates. For in six days the Lord made heaven and earth, the sea, and all that is in them, and rested the seventh day; wherefore the Lord blessed the Sabbath day and hallowed it.

V—Honor thy father and thy mother, that thy days may be long upon the land which the Lord thy God giveth thee.

VI—Thou shalt do no murder.

VII—Thou shalt not commit adultery.

VIII—Thou shalt not steal.

IX—Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor.

X—Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house; thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his manservant, nor his maidservant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is his.

CHILDREN OF 11 NATIONALITIES ON OUTING

Through the generosity of the Blue Ribbon Club of East Cambridge 1,300 children were given an outing at Kinsley Park, Fresh Pond, Cambridge, today.

The children ranged from three to fourteen years and nearly every youngster from Fourth street to the railroad tracks was present. Eleven nationalities were represented.

Twenty special cars were required to transport the children. The committees which had charge of the affair included President James H. Kelleher, Vice-President Dennis McCarthy, Treasurer C. F. Lyons, Financial Secretary Joseph Doyle, Secretary Edward Finn and Chairman Daniel F. O'Brien of the Board of Directors.

Among the children were twenty-two chief leaders, wearing red badges, and the leaders, wearing blue badges, all of whom were chosen by James J. Logan of the Thorndike School. Gifts of ice cream, tonic, crackers, candy, pies, bread, rolls, ham and articles to individuals who had laid down certain rules for their guidance".

Mr. Dunne said: "I do not think we are required to argue our legal contentions at this time."

He said the record was necessary to the directors' case.

Mr. Dunne introduced a certified copy of the articles of church incorporation, April 2, 1897.

MAJ. JOHNSTON NOW FULL PROFESSOR AT HARVARD

Major Robert M. Johnston, U. S. A., who has been overseas for more than a year, has reached Cambridge where he learned for the first time he had been appointed a full professor at Harvard.

Major Johnston was detailed abroad to collect data for historical research, and, dealing with the part the United States played in the war. Before the war he was a member of the Harvard faculty, being connected with the department of modern history.

SOMERVILLE BOY GOES AWAY FOR SECOND TIME

Joseph Lennon, 17, of No. 5 Tyler place, Somerville, reported to the Somerville police today that her fifteen-year-old son, Vincente Carsolo, had been missing since July 2. He accompanied in the same fashion last year, and was found in the town from which he was discharged when it was discovered that he was under age. Carsolo wore a ship suit, brass buttons and navy shoes, and had an American flag tattooed on his arm.

AIRPLANE DELIVERY IS WORCESTER STORE'S PLAN

Worcester, July 8.—For the first time in the history of New England, department store will inaugurate airplane delivery next Tuesday.

The promoters of the plan are members of a Worcester corporation and purchases will be delivered by airplane to Camp Devens and Lenox, the home of Congressman Samuel Winslow.

IRISH VICTORY DRIVE IN LAWRENCE CLOSED

Lawrence, July 8.—The Irish victory drive conducted here last month under the auspices of the John McBride branch, Friends of Irish Freedom, closed in a blaze of glory. The goal of the campaign was originally set at $10,000 but when the final figures were tabulated it was found that $22,200 had been subscribed.

THREE WOMEN IN DEATH TRIANGLE BEFORE JURY

Chicago, July 8.—Three women who figure in the triangle that led to the slaying of Benjamin R. Burr, an attorney, face each other today before a coroner's jury impanelled to investigate Burr's death.

One of the women is thirty-seven-year-old Margaret Seithamier, who killed Burr by firing four shots from a pearl-handled revolver into his body, according to Mrs. Tillie Hunter Burr, famous, to whom he was to have married next week. Mrs. Myrtle Worcester Burr, the common wife of the slain attorney, is the third.

It was because she thought Burr no longer loved her that Miss Seithamier waited for him in his office and pounced with her half-sister, Mrs. Mary Hennes, and shot him as he entered. He died a few hours later at a hospital.

MRS. KIRBY OUT AS TRUSTEE AT LONG ISLAND

Miss Carrish, Secretary, Also Resigns; Had Testified Against Dr. Donlan at Hearing

Mrs. Richard F. Kirby, of No. 17 Burlington street, East Boston, today resigned as a trustee of the Inebriates Board at Long Island, on which she had served four years. Miss Isabel Carrish, executive secretary of the institute for seven years, also resigned.

Both were witnesses against Dr. Charles H. Donlan, head of the Long Island institution when he was given a hearing before Judge Joseph J. Morley in East Boston Court on charges that resulted in his removal as superintendent. Judge Morley found after a protracted hearing that Dr. Donlan had been removed "on bad faith and without proper cause." Dr. Donlan was reinstated.

At the time Dr. Donlan charged that he was the victim of a conspiracy and declared that charges were brought against certain trustees. Mrs. Kirby was one of the defendants in this suit. It is said that should Dr. Donlan be reinstated in the institute, Mrs. Kirby and Miss Carrish would not be on the staff.

Mrs. Kirby is active in welfare and charity work in East Boston, as is her husband, who is president of the East Boston Improvement Association.

SERVICE FOR TWO BOYS KILLED BY AUTO TRUCK

Funeral services for the two Charlestown boys who were killed by an auto truck were held from St. Joseph's Church, Charlestown, today for Edward Timon, thirteen, son of John J. Lyons of No. 19 Allen street, and Joseph Timon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Timon of the Sacred Heart, and the body, as it lay in a white casket, was in charge of Undertaker Joseph Lyons, an American flag draping the casket and the boy's wife on her left. At 10 o'clock Fr. Mullen, who celebrated the high mass of requiem, was assisted by Fr. Hennessey and Fr. Ferris. He was escorted from the home to the church by two companies of sailors.

A high mass of requiem was also celebrated for Joseph F. Ryan, son of George H. Ryan of No. 4 Homer square, by Rev. C. Fitzgerald. The body was escorted from the home to St. Joseph's Church by a company of sailors, the boy, who was a member of St. Joseph's School.

FIGHTS WIFE'S CLAIM OF NON-SUPPORT

Maintaining that the statements of his wife were "not absolutely true," Dr. C. Harold Gilbert, a Quincy physician, appealed from the decision of the Waltham Court, commanding him to pay Mrs. C. Harold Gilbert $20 weekly as a result of her charge of non-support. Dr. Gilbert was held in $1,000 bond.

Several years ago Dr. Gilbert moved his office from Watertown to Quincy. His wife, however, remained in Watertown and recently brought suit for non-support.

LYNN WOMAN AT REVERE BEACH TRIES SUICIDE

Mrs. Resnick Escapes Nurse and Plunges From Breakwater Into Surf

In an attempt to end her life, Mrs. Rose Resnick of Lynn, thirty-five today leaped from the breakwater near the Ocean Pier bathhouse, Revere Beach, falling twenty-feet into the water. She was rescued and taken to the Frost Hospital, Chelsea.

Mrs. Resnick is the wife of Myer Resnick of Lynn, a shoe manufacturer. She had been ill for eleven months and was staying in the care of a nurse, at No. 24 Bellingham avenue, Beachmont. Accompanied by the nurse, she went for a walk along the Revere Beach boulevard. Nearing the pier, Mrs. Resnick suddenly broke from her companion, and running to the water leaped into the water, who was fully clothed.

The nurse's screams brought Richard Hoit, who was in a row boat at the end of the pier.

He rowed to the spot and drew the unconscious form of Mrs. Resnick from the water.

Patrolman Charles Rollins and Ruzena Mochann of the Revere police force served with Mr. Hoit, and resuscitated the victim after half an hour's work. She was taken to the Frost Hospital in a hysterical condition.

SEEK LAW ADVICE ON CITY PURCHASING OF FOOD

The City Council has referred to the municipal law department the question as to whether the city would purchase foodstuffs from the government for the purpose of selling them to the public. The War Department recently announced that certain types of army foodstuffs would be sold to municipalities that applied for such goods.

The Councillors were somewhat in doubt as to the legal phase of the municipality in buying and selling these supplies.

GEN. WEAVER SERIOUSLY ILL IN WASHINGTON

Major-General E. M. Weaver, former chief of the Coast Artillery Corps, is seriously ill in the Walter Reed Hospital, Washington, D. C., according to word received here by his son-in-law, Colonel W. W. Rand, General Weaver commanded the Fifty Massachusetts Regiment during the Civil War and was one of the organizers of the militia. He was also instrumental in securing for some time drill quarters for the Boston public schools. Colonel Rand and his wife, the general's daughter, left for Washington today.

AUTOIST EXONERATED IN CASE OF BOY'S DEATH

James De Grasso of Haven street, Revere, was exonerated by the Superior Court today in connection with the fatal automobile accident on Revere beach boulevard, June 22, in which Joseph Lennon, 5 years old, was killed. De Grasso was driving the car which struck the boy. Several witnesses testified that the boy ran directly in front of the car and that De Grasso could not avoid striking him.

TENANTS CALL 25 P. C. RENT RAISE "PRUSSIANIZED LANDLORDISM"

HOUSEKEEPERS RESENT BAN ON HEALTH COMPLAINTS

or condition approaching a nuisance so that trained inspectors may investigate the situation indorsed.

Some of the women tenants today defied the company's edict prohibiting the display of advertisements in windows by putting in "To Let" signs, claiming that with rents increased 25 per cent. they could afford to insert in newspapers advertisements to let spare rooms. Such a move, a building official said, was only one of a group of apparent regulations imposed by the company which are chiefly concern, which is made up chiefly of Philadelphia promoters.

The attitude of the company's agents toward complaints of tenants was censured by the workers in such widely separated parts of the city as Roxbury and entering a code of rules considered a challenge.

"PIRACY" IS CHARGED.

They say the company's card announcement was evidence of "Prussianized landlordism," "tyrannical autocracy" and "piracy" which should not be permitted by the public officials of the city.

These and other terms were applied by indignant tenants who were interviewed by The American reporters.

The women tenants were particularly incensed at the attitude of Mayor Peters, Fred J. Ford and Hiram Tolman, Chairman William C. Woodward ought to be ashamed to appear with the Webster-Jordan Company before them and cause them to listen to the request that the Board of Health of any nuisance will be served with legal notice," remarked one.

This has been interpreted by many tenants as a direct infringement on their constitutional rights to redress of grievances, claiming that such a privilege is denied to tenants is duress and coercion, and amounts to a misdemeanor.

Protests could be learned at City Hall the matter is still being investigated, and action in event any such rights are being repressed by the Webster-Jordan or any other real estate agents is denied.

RENT RAISE EXORBITANT.

The letter sent to the Webster-Jordan Company on Saturday and the stern criticism of the firm made by Acting Mayor Ford and Health Commissioner Woodward were appreciated by the tenants, but what they are in danger of is the exorbitant method which they characterized as unfair and autocratic.

That a rise of 25 per cent. on rents is exorbitant and unwarranted under conditions as obtaining by the companies, they say, would not have minded a rent increase of from 5 to 10 per cent., which, in view of the fact that the high cost conditions have made advanced necessary, but that the 25 per cent. increase being imposed when property has not been improved [illegible] and when repairs are neglected, as they allege.

Tenants were amused over the explanation of Trustee Welles, trustee of the Webster-Jordan Company, who is said to have explained in an interview in connection with the announcement that tenants would not be allowed to put signs in windows that the Board of Health objected to the unsightly appearance of such signs.

What is the kind of bluff they have been using all the time. If they mean what Mr. Welles tries to make them mean, why don't they print it right in the right way?

COMMITTED THEMSELVES.

Instead they committed themselves to bluffing and when the bluff got to working they tried to back down. Nothing like that will be tolerated by the people with legal redress in the city intended, if, as and when such an occasion arises. We believe the company simply failed to establish the right way of carrying out its own regulations. It is not of course to be expected that any agreement on these matters will be satisfactory to all concerned, but the company has failed to make a reasonable effort to do so. They hoisted rents without notice. They said the cards were distributed and the signs were put in effect at once. Now, if that is not the case we are glad to get the fact. This was not only a serious but a downright hardship to many tenants. Some were asked to make a little extra money out of a delivery basket with every [illegible] so much.

Such a practice should be permitted [illegible] tenants [illegible] a guarantee to [illegible] to feed their families [illegible] they are taking advantage of the scarcity of food.

Fair and approximate knowing that most people are disposed to [illegible] and [illegible].

SHOULD INCREASE ASSESSMENT.

Another woman said:

"The 25 per cent. increase in assessment, Mayor Peters has notified us, if the Webster-Jordan Company can keep such a rent in tenants [illegible] of money to [illegible] and improvements [illegible] and controlled by the city [illegible] yielded with a [illegible] rent. The whole [illegible] is really advertising and [illegible] might not be so grade to raise rents [illegible] action early [illegible].

Cheer Up! Shoes Are to Be Only $3 or $4 Higher!

By International News Service.

Chicago, July 8.—There is a world shortage of hides and for this reason, chiefly, shoes are to be from $1 to $4 a pair higher, according to officials of the National Shoe Board of Exposition, which is in session here.

All foreign countries, it was declared, must come to America for shoes and this has created a demand that is another factor in the high cost of footwear.

STATE HOUSE IS STORMED FOR WAR BONUS

Veterans Expecting to Get $100 Told They Must Wait for Application Blanks

Hundreds of war veterans stormed the State House today to obtain the $100 war bonus voted them by the State Legislature. Many waited in line for hours in front of Room 24a, where the $10 monthly bonus is paid, others thronged the Governor's office and the State treasurer's office, only to be turned away disappointed. They were informed that application blanks would not be ready until next Tuesday.

State Treasurer Charles L. Burrill declared the blanks were being hurried with all speed and said his office could do not more to hasten the payment of the $100 bonus than it has done.

"I could not order any banks printed until the Governor had signed the bills," he declared. "I did not know whether he would send the bill back for amendments, so there was nothing to do but await his signature."

BLANKS READY TUESDAY.

Mr. Burrill declared that the blanks and circulars of instruction would be distributed in the basement auditorium of the State House next Tuesday morning.

"The printers began work the minute the bill was signed," he said, "but it is no small physical task to turn out 500,000 blanks and as many circulars containing instructions to those entitled to the bonus as to how to fill them out.

"Tomorrow a 2 o'clock bids will be asked for the loan of $10,000,000 until the first of March in anticipation of the bonus issue. I don't know how much it will cost, but if 200,000 are entitled to the bonus, as has been said, it will cost $20,000,000.

"These men must fill out the application blanks and accompany them with their original discharge. No certified copies of discharge papers will be accepted. In New York it was found that many discharges were faked.

RULES TO FOLLOW.

"If the mans relatives have received the $10 bonus and his discharge is recorded at the State House it will not be necessary for him to send in his original discharge. Otherwise he must bring it in person or send it by mail or by his representative in the House or Senate. This can be done by veterans who live too far away from Boston to bring it personally. As fast as the checks can be made out they will be mailed."

A force of fifty clerks, including many U. S. veterans, will be employed in doing the clerical work under Miss Edith Peabody, who has been in charge of the $10 bonus, and Captain James Dunne of Clinton, a Croix de Guerre man. The soldiers employed will be those who have had experience in army pay rolls. Several sergeant-majors will be among the number.

Hundreds of blanks will be turned over to seamen and representatives for distribution to their soldier constituents. These blanks when filled out will be filed at room 24, State House. An effort is to be made to have moving picture houses give information concerning the bonus by means of lantern slides thrown on the screen.

DRIVER INJURED WHEN HORSE JUMPS

Richard Powers of No. 15 North Park street, Watertown, is at the Waltham Hospital suffering from a broken collarbone and numerous other injuries as the result of being thrown from the ice wagon he was driving when his horse shied and rushed frightened into nearby tree. Powers is a driver for the Howard Ice Company.

'HEALER' OF HYDE PARK ACCUSED IN COURT

T. C. McCormack Discovered Gift in Grip Epidemic; Living "Testimonials" on Hand

Thomas C. McCormack of No. 49 Water street, Hyde Park, a loom fixer, discovered during the influenza epidemic that he was "possessed of healing power," he stated in Dedham Court today, as he began to treat the halt, the lame and the blind. Which is why he was in Dedham Court.

McCormack was accused of practicing medicine without a license and with representing himself as a practicing physician. The complaint was made by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kady of 11 Hillside avenue, Norwood, who said that "Healer" McCormack treated a relative "forty dollars' worth for rheumatism and the patient got steadily worse."

At least fifty people who said they were cured by McCormack were in court, but were not allowed to testify. These living "testimonials" were ready to swear, according to the healer, that they had been relieved of tuberculosis, pneumonia and other diseases.

The case was taken under advisement until Thursday.

DANIELS ORDERS R-34 MOVIES CENSORED

New York, July 8.—Motion picture films of the R-34 are to be censored before they are exhibited to the public. The order came to the navy officers at Roosevelt Field from Secretary Daniels. It is understood it was based on military grounds, and was issued at the request of the British authorities.

TRANSPORT WITH 2,355 TROOPS STANDS IN FOG.

New York, July 8.—The transport Edgar F. Luckenbach, with 2,355 overseas troops, had a narrow escape from disaster in mid-ocean, it was learned on her arrival here.

During a dense fog a big unidentified vessel bore down upon the transport, swerved sharply and ripped away a blade of her propeller. The Luckenbach remained stationary for several hours until the fog lifted.

TO CEASE CENSORING MAIL FROM GERMANY

Paris, July 8.—Censorship of mail and cables has been decided upon by the "big five" as part of the blockade and will cease simultaneously with the blockade. Germany has been notified to this effect.

Norway has officially filed a claim with the peace conference for damages for ships sunk and sailors killed during the war. No definite amount is mentioned.

ALLIES ACCEPT FINLAND'S AID IN PETROGRAD DRIVE

Paris, July 8.—The allied and associated powers have informed Finland by an identical note that they have no objection to co-operation by Finland with Admiral Kolchak in his proposed general attack on Petrograd.

Austria was told in a note by Premier Clemenceau that there is no reason why she should not be allowed to enter the League of Nations but an early date, but that everything depends upon her own good

THE CARE OF THE HAIR— SCALP EXERCISES HELP

Woman's Hair Grows Almost an Inch a Month —Noonan's Hair Petrole Keeps Hair Healthy

Woman's hair grows almost an inch a month, but this means the healthy woman whose scalp is free from dandruff and who takes pride in having a good head of hair.

Massaging gives healthy circulation to feed hair.

A healthy scalp depends on a healthy circulation to feed the hair, and the accompanying illustration gives an idea how to massage the scalp, using Noonan's Hair Petrole to remove the dandruff and to act as an antiseptic and invigorating tonic to the hair.

Barbers and hairdressers everywhere are loud in their praise of this Noonan's Hair Petrole because they can see a pleased customer every time they apply it to the scalp. This preparation may be obtained from reliable druggists, department stores, barber shops, or direct from the manufacturers, I. Noonan & Sons, Portland St., Boston, Mass., at $1 a bottle. Barbers apply Noonan's Petrole for fifteen cents an application. Full directions on every package.—Advertisement.

VON TIRPITZ TO BE TRIED IN LONDON

No Appeal From Tribunal Which Will Have Power to Inflict Death Penalty

London, July 8.—Former Admiral von Tirpitz, who was responsible for Germany's war of sea frightfulness with her submarines, will be among the accused German naval officers demanded for trial, the Times stated today. He will be accused of violation of international laws and customs.

It is the present intention of the government, according to the Times, to constitute military tribunals for the trial of the various defendants, settling the order of procedure by an order in council in connection with a bill providing for the ratification of the treaty. It will be stated that there will be no appeal from the verdict of the international tribunal.

Many prominent persons are sending letters to the press making suggestions for the trials. H. Rider Haggard, the novelist, believes the German naval officers should be tried before courts-martial.

The Daily Mail understands that Von Tirpitz and other offenders will be tried in open court, and that the court will have power to inflict the death penalty. The government, it is said, is likely to change the place of detention of the former Kaiser and it is possible that if a suitable "prison residence" can be found near Epsom, he may be detained there, being carried back and forth to the trial room in a closed automobile.

It had previously been reported that White Tower, the oldest part of the Tower of London, was being prepared for ex-Kaiser and his personal attendants.

"Big Three" in Accord to Try the Ex-Kaiser in London, Lansing Says

By JOHN T. PARKERSON,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Paris, July 8.—The decision of Premier Lloyd George, Premier Clemenceau and President Wilson to try the ex-Kaiser for his war crimes in London was described in official circles today as a "gentlemen's agreement." Secretary of State Lansing, after a conference with his associates, is satisfied that the Big Three were in accord on this matter.

In some quarters the question is being asked: "Did not Premier Lloyd George 'put one over' on his colleagues in being first to announce publicly that the former Emperor would be arraigned in London?"

In this same connection it was suggested that President Wilson and Premier Clemenceau were so absorbed with other matters that they left the details of the ex-Kaiser's trial to the British Prime Minister.

The admission in official circles that the Big Three at one of their final meetings agreed to try the former Kaiser in London seems to dispose of all doubts about Premier Lloyd George being bluffing. The American delegates are not completely explained yet, but they frankly admit that the decision regarding the fate of the former war lord did not necessarily have to be communicated to them. It is explained that the President had on many things on his mind before his departure for home that it is very probable he forgot about the trial of the former German emperor, or it may be he did not attach as much importance to it as Premier Lloyd George did.

The version that is commonly accepted is that Premier Lloyd George suggested to his colleagues that the ex-Kaiser be tried in London. Thereupon Premier Clemenceau and President Wilson assumed an attitude of indifference.

It is generally understood that Premier Clemenceau and President Wilson both objected to the former Kaiser being tried in Paris. Then the suggestion was made that he be tried in Washington, and President Wilson again objected. The suggestion of Premier Lloyd George that he be arraigned in London afforded the solution.

England Pays Homage to Captain Fryatt at Funeral Rites

By International News Service.

London, July 8.—England today paid homage to the memory of Captain Fryatt, the fearless British skipper, who was put to death by the Germans in Belgium for trying to ram a "pirate" with his unarmed merchant ship.

Scenes recalling the funeral of Miss Edith Cavell, heroic English nurse, were enacted just before noon when Captain Fryatt's body arrived at the Charing Cross station and was borne along the Thames embankment to St. Paul's Church, where solemn services were conducted in the presence of a vast throng. The roadways leading to the church were lined with bareheaded crowds.

After the ceremonies the remains were taken to Captain Fryatt's old home in Dovercourt.

CAMBRIDGE BOY HURT BY AUTO AT AYER

Ayer, July 8.—Two Cambridge boys who came here to visit the camp came to grief tonight when one was struck down by an automobile. The boys had recently come between them and started to walk from here to Arlington Heights. While walking down Main street an automobile struck and knocked down Michael Cannon, fifteen, of No. 15 Horan avenue, North Cambridge. He laid in the street for half an hour with his companion, Fred Hunter, fourteen, of No. 44 Tuttle street, Cambridge, trying to resuscitate him before he was found by officer James Dowgreaux.

The officer commandeered an auto and took him to the home of Dr. L. D. Sullivan. He was found to have received a possible fracture of the skull and was removed to the Base Hospital.

SECRETARY LANSING TO SAIL FOR HOME FRIDAY

Paris, July 8.—Secretary of State Lansing, member of the American peace delegation, is planning to sail for the United States on Friday, it was stated today. Owing to the delay of the German delegates arriving here the final peace treaty regarding reparations will not be held until Thursday. This meeting will take up the formal request recently made by Germany in a note to the allies that action be taken immediately to enable Germany to begin work on reparations.

K. OF C. SECRETARY WINS FRENCH HERO CROSS

44-HOUR WEEK FOR TELEPHONE WORKERS

Members of Boston Union Are Granted Half-Holiday for Saturday

Telephone workers of Local No. 142 International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers of Boston, have been granted a 44-hour week, it was announced today. This will give operators the Saturday half-holiday.

While it is specified that this privilege has been granted for the Summer months, the belief prevails among employes of the New England Telephone and Telegraph Company that the schedule will remain effective during the Fall and Winter.

Announcement to this effect is made in a letter to the American, signed by George L. Fleming, press secretary of the Boston local. The letter follows:

"The Telephone Workers, Local 142, I. B. E. W., of Boston, have been granted the forty-four-hour week by the New England Telephone & Telegraph Company. The same is to be effective during the Summer months, with the possibility of its being extended throughout the year. It is the consensus of opinion among the members of the union that the telephone company will not take it away at the end of the Summer months. Under private management the telephone company has always treated reasonable requests with a broad scope, and as matters stand at present there is little doubt in the minds of the members of the union of the company's attitude in this connection.

"Saturday half-holiday affords the employes many pastimes and pleasures which they do not get under the forty-eight hour week plan. It also permits of the employes doing such necessary work at home that otherwise has to be crowded in after hours under the forty-eight-hour week plan. This sometimes has its reaction on the employe the next day, and obviously reduces the high standard of efficiency so necessary to the proper performance of one's duties. The forty-four-hour week is essential from a physical, mental and economical standpoint, and an advantage to the employer as well as the employe."

DEATH OF JAMES A. EARLY, NEWTON LOWER FALLS

James A. Early, postmaster, postoffice clerk and general merchant in Newton Lower Falls for more than forty years, is dead at his home, No. 6 Washington street, Wellesley, after a short illness of heart disease. Early was born in Newton Lower Falls, the son of Timothy and Ellen (Dwight) Early. At the age of 14 he entered as a clerk the store of which he subsequently became proprietor. He is survived by six children. Ellsworth, a reporter on the Advertiser staff of his first wife, Josephine F. Catherine. Funeral services will be held at St. John's Church, Wellesley, Thursday morning.

BUSHMAN, IDOL OF THE SCREEN, JOBLESS

"Movie" Actor Blames Ex-Wife for His Vanishing Popularity

Poor Francis X. Bushman! He can't get a job.

Former movie headliner for whom as stenographers spent their lunch hours in movie houses, and for whom matinee charms school girls pined, thrust in order to grab at their representation on the lighted screen, is now a dark-and-outer waiting for his heels in managers' offices and looking for work.

The one idol was brought to this pass, he told Judge Tierney in the New York Supreme Court, by the action of his first wife, Josephine F. Bushman, who accused him of cruelty.

"The publicity and vehement attacks made by her, have hurt my drawing power as a star," he told the court.

Bushman, who is now married to Beverly Bayne, his former co-star, is said to have been remiss in his alimony, and that this stirred the first Mrs. Bushman to action.

Bushman says that he, Bushman, says that as a matinee idol he is all through. He intimates that matinee girls, who have brought fame to him, that he was all that was fine and noble, are so afraid of dodging out about his alleged cruelty that they refuse to patronize theatres where he is shown.

It's tough, but possibly Francis may have saved enough in the palmy days of plenty to allow him to weather the storm. After all the public is fickle and he may come back.

NEW BEDFORD DEALERS IGNORE POLICE RULING

New Bedford, July 8.—Dailies all theatres here will not allow the sale of 2.75 per cent. beer, it was announced. The bar at the Waverly House will be dispensed with after that time and was immediately removed. Former liquor dealers are preparing for the police ruling and have placed large orders for 2½ per cent. beer with breweries outside of the city.

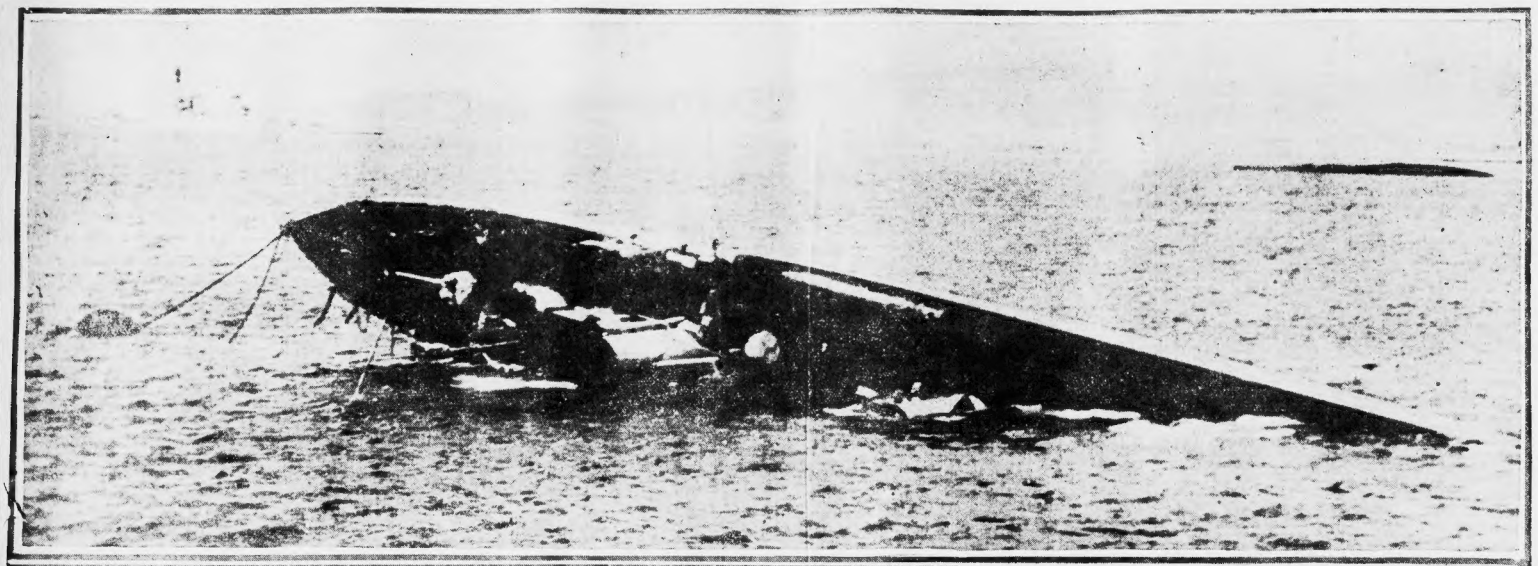
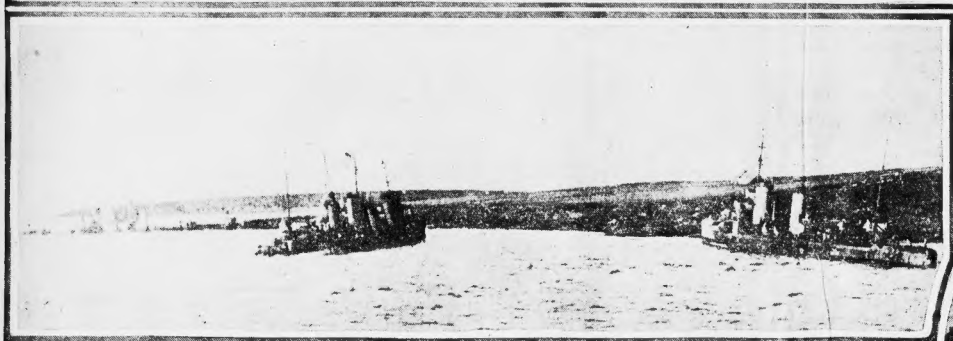
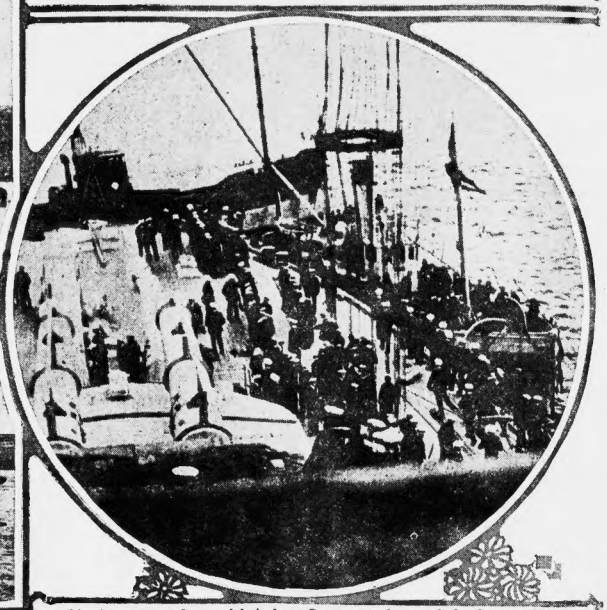
Remarkable Pictures of Scuttling of German Fleet at Scapa Flow



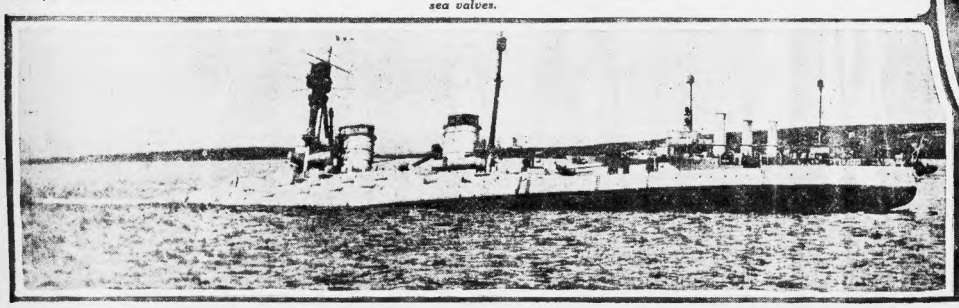
One of Germany's crack destroyers capsizing at Scapa Flow. In the background can be seen the hull of a capsized cruiser.



Group of German destroyers beached off Lyeness after an attempt had been made by their German crews to sink them by opening the ships' sea valves.



This picture was taken as Admiral von Reuter, in charge of the German fleet at Scapa Flow, arrived on board the "Revenge," the flagship of Admiral Freemantle of the British fleet.



Striking photograph of the Hindenburg taken just as the huge battleship was sinking. In the background is the Nurnburg, now beached on Cava Island.

FAITH HEALER HAS PATIENTS INDEXED

Name, Address and Trouble on a Card Only Way to Enter Hickson's Clinic

Paris, Healer James Moore Hickson has established his headquarters at the Hotel Bellevue. Here, in Rooms 363 and 365, on the top floor, the Misses Heloise Hersey, of No. 78 Mount Vernon street, and Miss Grace Butterfield, of the cathedral Church of St. Paul, today read letters, answered telephone applications, and conferred with the healer of the ailments which opens tomorrow at the Church of St. John the Evangelist.

Miss Hersey is a Boston woman, of mature years, well known as the former principal of an exclusive private school, "Miss Hersey's," which she closed a few years ago.

She has written one book, rather well known, the result of her experiences with her pupils, "To Girls." This book discusses the many phases of religious, human, worldly, and social experience which girls just out of school must meet and decide for themselves. Advice is given in the book as to the decisions.

For several years Miss Hersey has had charge of a large Sunday school class at Trinity church, which has been famous through many dioceses. Miss Grace Butterfield, communicant at St. Paul's Cathedral Church, is Miss Hersey's assistant.

CATALOG FAITH HEALING.

In a sunny room at the top of the Hotel Bellevue faith healing was being catalogued and recorded on neat, pink cards. The two lady secretaries sat at a small table, assorting papers.

When an American reporter was shown in Miss Hersey, rising to her feet, much perturbed, said: "Dear me—how possibly did you come here?"

There is, all about, the air of womanly protection of the great man, pride in his healing, desire to shield him from all ruder contact. He will lay on hands at the time named in the card system, but under arrangement.

Miss Hersey repeated the question. "How did you get in here?"

"By the elevator," humbly admitted the visitor.

Atmosphere of acknowledgment that sometimes people do arrive on sixth floors by the means described. Then the precision of the Index system again asserted itself. The reporter. "Come here. There is a way of managing the healing campaign. You cannot see me now. Write out your name and trouble on a card. Send the letter in. This is the way Mr. Hickson will know of your case. No, you cannot see him. No, he is busy all day long. He is even now on an engagement. Send a letter, I said. Description of trouble and name—mail to Mr. Hickson. We are too busy for more talk. Good morning." It is final.

MEETS THE HEALER.

By this time Miss Hersey, who had escorted the reporter into the hall, vanished within the door of Room 365. The visitor descended in the elevator. And met Healer Hickson, met him from an engagement in the dining room, his breakfast over.

Are you Healer Hickson?"

"I am," a gentle voice, low and contained, of a serene soul, at peace with itself, replied. "But there is nothing wonderful about what I do. And I must insist on doing it quietly. I never in all my experience had so many requests for healing. There are many sufferers here, and I pray that they may be helped. The healing power of Christ is waiting to meet their faith.

But no more words to the press this morning. From 2:30 to 3 are the hours appointed for interviews—when they must all come together. 'Good morning.' Final and emphatic exit, seen as Miss Hersey's.

Downstairs, in the lobby of the hotel, two old gentlemen, country types, with white beards and oldish styled hats of chip straw, inquired at the desk.

"Healer Hickson," they asked with bated breath. "We want his help."

"Room 365," replied the girl at the desk, who has so replied many times in the two days of the healers stay.

A rate car was sent to the telephone. A thin voice, of age, asked for help. "It is for my friend's wife," the voice explained. "She has been ailing for years."

Then the subsequent put down the receiver, and turned to his friend. "Name and address and trouble on a card," says he. "Send it in to Healer Hickson."

Which is part of the procedure of the launching of the Healing Campaign in Boston of James Moore Hickson.

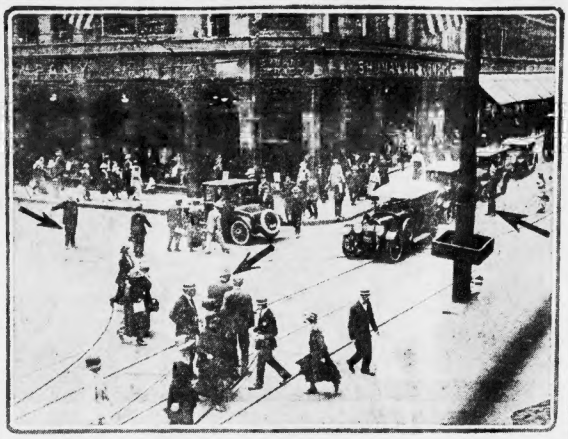
WHERE AUTOISTS KEEP POLICE GUESSING



Summer, Washington and Winter streets form one of Boston's busiest corners. Arrows in photo show trio of traffic officers at work directing the constant stream of autos at this point. Autos travelling in two directions are shown. Those turning Summer street into Washington, and going north, often perplex the officers and cause a holdup in traffic, whereby if they signalled their direction much delay would be eliminated.

EXPECT ARRESTS IN EGGING OF PASTOR

One Already Made in Case of Rev. S. M. Thompson of Gray, Me.

Gray, Me., July 8.—Further arrests are expected as the result of boisterous egging of the Rev. Samuel M. Thompson, pastor of the Baptist Church here, the night before the Fourth.

William Sanborn of this town has already been arrested in connection with the affair, the charge being assault.

Sanborn will be given a hearing in the Portland municipal court on Wednesday, and it is expected that many citizens of Gray will attend, a party of them as witnesses and the others as interested spectators.

Citizens generally condemn the attack on the pastor, whose alleged unpopularity among the young people of the town is given as a cause for the trouble.

Mr Thompson refused to make any formal statement in advance of the hearing, but he did say that for some time he had been annoyed by boys and young men in the streets, who had gathered around his house on one day, looking for extra work.

He declared that there was no reason for this, but other people who were interviewed intimated that the pastor was unpopular with the young people because he did not mix with them as freely as they thought he should.

It is claimed by some that Mr Thompson believes in a very strict observance of the Sabbath and that his views did not meet the full approval of the young people.

EXPRESS SYMPATHY FOR MOTHER OF DEAD MEMBER

Roxbury Post No. 44 of the Massachusetts State Branch, American League, passed resolutions at a meeting in the Municipal Building at Vine and Dudley streets expressing sympathy with Mrs. William Simpson, of No. 421 Warren street, Roxbury, mother of William Simpson, a member of the legion, who was shot dead early July 4.

There were 500 members present out of a total of 1,500. Headquarters have been established at No. 7414 Washington street. The branch has voted that all those enrolled before November 11, 1919, will become charter members.

BOY TRIPLETS, BUNNIES, KITTENS IN ONE HOME

New York, July 8.—Within the space of six hours, the stork left triplets—two boys and a girl—for Rudolph Cataldo, his rabbit presented him with ten new bunnies, and the family cat announced two new arrivals. Cataldo, who was already the father of eight children on $42 a week, is looking for extra work.

GROCERS START NATION-WIDE R.R. SUIT

Accuse U. S. Administrator of Discriminating in Rates and Cars in Favor of Packers

Chicago, July 8.—Walker D. Hines, director-general, and more than 200 roads of the United States Railway Administration are made defendants in a suit filed by the National Wholesale Grocers Association of the United States, with the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The complaint charges discrimination in favor of the packers in the matter of shipments of groceries and contends that if allowed to continue the packers will obtain a dominating control over the grocery trade.

The bill declares that the packers, through arrangements with the railroads, have developed a refrigerator car service almost as speedy as passenger car service and that as "commonly accepted changes in the tariffs of the railroad companies" are shipping many articles that belong in the grocery trade.

ASK AUTOISTS TO SIGNAL OFFICERS

Would Help to Solve Traffic Problem at Shuman Corner, Say Police

Some very busy and worried policemen, constituting the only three traffic officers operating in the city who operate at Washington and Summer streets, have sent out an appeal to autoists.

WHEN YOU APPROACH OR TURN—GIVE US SOME KIND OF A SIGNAL AS TO WHICH WAY YOU'RE GOING.

These overcome auto organizations which guards the busiest corner in Boston, that of Summer and Washington streets, Joseph Whitehouse and Thomas Sullivan.

Whitehouse, who is at the end of Summer street between Filene's and Shuman's, and Sullivan, at the end of Washington street, between Filene's and Jordan's, are from the City Hall station, while Officer Sullivan, Washington street, between Shuman's and the Dexter building, is from the Dover street station.

HAVE MANY WORRIES.

These three men have probably as many worries as any citizens in Boston, for they are largely responsible to Chicago to the failure of automobiles to go on approaching the corner.

They have looked at the front wheels of automobiles to see which way they intend to go until the whirling turn of the wheels said to Bryan to the American today.

TRY TO WORK TOGETHER.

"We three try to work together," said Officer Whitehouse, while directing the Summer street traffic. Sullivan gives a signal that means Washington street traffic is to come to a stop and Summer street traffic to go across Washington street.

"The first car in the line coming up Summer street may be going over to Washington street, for all I know. If he is I would like to see him step around the corner while the rest of the traffic waits a couple of minutes. But how could I tell?

"The police on this corner are trying to do their best to handle this traffic but they would do better with a little help. If every automobile approaching this corner would just give a little signal it would help a lot."

After 10 a. m. only one way traffic, north bound, is allowed on Washington street at this point and this simplifies the case but before that the traffic is congested. The officers are pouring out people from three, trying to work in some sort of consistency, are nearly prostrated.

Anything an automobilist can do to help them in the way of attention will be greatly appreciated by the trio.

MAKES 148 MILES AN HOUR IN RECORD FLIGHT

Washington, July 8.—Flying at the rate of more than 148 miles an hour, Captain Lowell H. Smith established a new non-stop record between San Francisco and San Diego, Calif., for the War Department announced today. In a de Havilan "Bluebird" he covered the 610 miles in 246½ minutes.

Veteran Gateman, 69, to Wed School "Ma'm" of 39

Solon W. Webster, 69 years old, known to thousands of commuters at the Dudley street station, where he entered as gateman 40 years ago, and Miss Anna Adler, 39, a public school teacher at 26 Elliot street, Roxbury.

The couple met for the first time two years ago.

Webster is a widower living with a married son and his family at 22 Vine street, Mattapan. For 24 years he was postmaster on the Blue Hill avenue car line. He resigned from the postmastership at the Dudley street station for the last seven years. Webster was divorced when one child by another son and his family from Manchester, N. H., also expressed surprise at the coming marriage of the father.

K. OF C. SERVICE MEN'S SCHOOL UNDER WAY

Large Number Registered for Free Instruction at the Night Sessions

A large number of ex-service men registered last night at the Knights of Columbus Service House, No. 201 Berkeley street.

Classes in many subjects will be conducted at the service house, which is open to ex-service men only. More than 100 were registered in these classes, and it is expected that additional classes will be established within a short time.

Applicants also registered for instruction in mechanical English, accounting, commercial law and bookkeeping, and also in the special courses in Americanization, which includes in its course English, history, arithmetic, geography and citizenship. These classes will begin work tomorrow evening.

The school will be conducted at No. 201 Berkeley street during the Summer months, but will be established throughout the year.

Instructors in the various departments of the school, a number of special fitness from the teaching staff of the Boston public schools, with Harry Pfeiffer, principal of the Franklin evening school, has been appointed director in educational activities of the Knights of Columbus. Principal Riley, who is also substitute director, has had much experience with the army camp school at Camp Devens.

Principal Riley plans later to install classes in motion picture operating, machines and automobile and motor boat engineering.

WANT DISABLED HEROES TO GET MORE MONEY

Malden Service Men to Ask Congressman Fuller to Present Plea at Capital

More than 400 former service men of Malden went on record as favoring an increased appropriation by Congress for the benefit of men disabled in World War at the meeting of Malden Post of the American Legion held in Malden High School. Commander James E. Breslin presided.

The sentiments expressed by the men were impressed in the resolutions adopted by the meeting when referred to Congressman Alvan T. Fuller.

The erection of a bronze memorial tablet in commemoration of Malden's sons who answered the country's call was favored by the meeting and a committee was appointed to wait on Mayor Bridgeo in connection with the matter.

ELECT OFFICERS.

An employment bureau will be immediately established to assist veterans in securing work. A membership drive was inaugurated. It was voted to hold the next meeting the first Monday evening in August.

Charles Lombard was elected commander of North 42nd Post No. 52, Joseph Hanna, vice commander; Paul P. Bonelli, adjutant; Stephen Gardiello, finance officer; George Costanzo, sergeant-at-arms, and Vincent De Mento, chaplain and war risk officer. The post is composed of members of Italian extraction, with one exception.

MORE POSTS TO ELECT.

A caucus meeting, for the purpose of completing the organization, will be held tonight by Bunker Hill Post in Kelly's Auditorium, Moultie and Bunker Hill streets, Charlestown. All veterans of the district are invited to be present.

An election of officers will be held this evening by Lawrence J. Flaherty Post at a special meeting in the Municipal building. Measures and By-laws governing the post will be adopted. Former service men of the district are invited.

Plans for a field day will probably be installed in permanent quarters which will be furnished by the town by the Legion. Chairman John H. Geoghegan, the well known Fenway lieutenant-governor and lieutenant Thomas Holland, assisted by the executive board, is to make the necessary arrangements to secure the Taylor House on Hartford street for the purpose.

The Best Iron Made

To Stop Ironing Worries Get an American Beauty

More than a million women use American Beauty electric irons. They paid a trifle more. But that means nothing when they think of its unfailing reliability through the years it serves them.

Users of American Beauty irons are free from the probability of postponed ironings. Their electric iron does not get out of order. The flexible cord is made to meet hard service. The iron is carefully made of proper materials just like any other fine tool must be made.

It is fool-proof. It is scientifically balanced. It has a specially shaped nose that makes the work easier. The materials and the workmanship cannot be better.

Wherever electric irons are sold the American Beauty is given the highest endorsement. Remember when you are buying an electric iron, it is qualities that make for reliability that are more important than anything else.

One delayed ironing or an extra trip to the repairman will more than offset the saving that a less reliable iron offers in the purchase price.

Buy an American Beauty iron and you will find a new pleasure in your ironing. It is for you to use on the things you are particular to have ironed just so, and it is reliable enough for you to turn over to the servants without fear that they will injure it.

Regardless of its slight extra cost be sure to get an

How Signs Of Old Age Creep Into Your System When The Iron In Your Blood Runs Low

For Want of Iron, You May Be Old at Thirty—Nervous, Irritable and All Run-Down—While at Fifty or Sixty, With Plenty of Iron in Your Blood, You May Be Young in Feeling and Brimming Over With Vim and Energy

IRON IS THE RED BLOOD FOOD

That Helps Strengthen the Nerves, Restores Wasted Tissue and Aids in Giving Renewed Force and Power to the Body. Physicians Explain Why Administration of Simple Nuxated Iron Often Increases the Strength and Endurance of Delicate, Rundown People in Two Weeks' Time.

YOU ARE AGEING
If you are wearied by the activities of your daily life
YOU ARE AGEING
If you have lost the spring of your step and your movements are cumbrous
YOU ARE AGEING
If your skin is shrinking and your face looks wrinkled, careworn and old
YOU ARE AGEING
If the enthusiasm for tackling your daily problems has waned

Old age has already sunk its talons into thousands of men and women who ought still to be enjoying the springtime and summer of life simply because they have allowed worry, overwork, nervous strain, dissipation and occupational poisons to rob the iron from their blood and thereby destroy its power to change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. You will find plenty of evidence of this on your daily walk. Your pale face, your haggard appearance, your lack of vigor, your nervousness, your sleeplessness, your indigestion, your inability to concentrate, your lack of ambition, your dizziness, your sick headaches, your backaches, your twinges of rheumatism, your sciatica, your neuralgia, your nervous irritability, your lack of energy, your coated tongue, your pimples, your sallow complexion, your impoverished blood, your liability to contract disease, your premature decay, your old age—all these are but symptoms of iron starvation.

Without iron, the blood cannot change food into living tissue, muscle and brain. Without iron, the blood cannot absorb oxygen from the air we breathe. Without iron, the blood cannot destroy the poisons in the system. Without iron, the blood cannot nourish the nerves. Without iron, the blood cannot give to the body the power, energy, strength and vitality it should possess.

Nuxated Iron is not a stimulant like alcohol, tea or coffee, but it is a true blood builder and nerve tonic. It is the greatest remedy in the world for nervousness, indigestion, constipation, auto-intoxication, general debility, lack of energy, lack of ambition, lack of vitality, lack of endurance, and all conditions arising from impoverished blood and weakened nerves. It is the greatest remedy in the world for pale people, sickly people, people who are always tired, people who are old before their time, people who are growing old prematurely, people who are wearing out faster than they are building up.

Nuxated Iron is not a patent medicine nostrum or secret remedy, but one which is well known to druggists everywhere, and its iron constituent is widely prescribed by the leading physicians in their private practice and in the hospitals both here and abroad. Nuxated Iron is entirely different from the old forms of inorganic iron which are liable to injure the teeth, make one constipated and upset the stomach. Nuxated Iron is easily assimilated, does not injure the teeth, nor upset the stomach. The manufacturers guarantee successful and entirely satisfactory results or they will refund your money. It is dispensed by all druggists.

German Ships Will Never Be Raised, Says Capt. Long

New York, July 8.—"The German ships at Scapa Flow never will be raised."

This was the opinion expressed by Captain P. A. Long, who was the chief of convoy on the staff of Admiral Sims during the war. Captain Long arrived here on the transport Louisville, from Liverpool, by way of Brest. He lately visited the scene of the scuttling of the German fleet by the German crews at Scapa Flow.

"The cost would be about five cents, and nobody wants them except maybe junkmen or Fritz," he said. "They probably were worthless except as scrap, and the best bid any of the three big British scrapping firms made was $2,000,000. Not one of the dreadnoughts a scrap iron firm had offered $200,000."

This Actually Removes Superfluous Hair Roots

(By New and Instantaneous Method)

It is the introduction in this country of what is known as the "electrolytic process," a method that now rids hundreds of annoying superfluous hair on the face. The process is entirely new, different from all others, and far better, because it actually removes the roots as well as the surface hair. It is instantaneous, perfectly harmless, odorless and non-irritating.

Just get a stick of phelactine from your druggist, follow the simple directions and see the hair seem to come out with your own eyes. No dentistry or electrical treatment can produce such results. The skin is left soft, smooth and hairless as a child. Phelactine could even eat it with impunity. Advertisement.

To Free Your Skin of Hair or Fuzz

Boudoir Secrets.

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone. Advertisement.

FORD'S WAR BOOK PAYS TRIBUTE TO DOUGHBOY

"The Fighting Yankees Overseas" Is Full of Real Human Interest

By KATHERINE BROOKS.

A light across the head of the world he stands—greatest figure in the world—for the American doughboy.

So says Jack Ford, war correspondent in his recently published volume, "The Fighting Yankees Overseas" (McPhail, Boston). There have been many books written on the war, histories, narrative accounts, treatises, analyses. Mr. Ford's book is none of these. It is a "human interest" document, a retrospective view of the scientific conflict as sustained by one who was on the spot.

Although not a combatant, Mr. Ford was under fire; he knew the cries of battle, the smoke of barrage fire, the din of great guns, the scream of shells. He has slept on scarred fields, struggled with Flanders mud, drenched and shivered with midwinter storms. No man in the world can say more truly:

"I have eaten your bread and salt.
I have drunk your water and wine.
The dead you died I have watched beside,
And the lives that ye led were mine."

He went abroad with a war commission which enabled him to see every type of troops in action. He was the only war correspondent from New England fully accredited with the American and British Expeditionary Forces. He interviewed all the leading generals, was entertained by Foch and Pershing, met King Albert of Belgium, King George of England, and the Prince of Wales. But it was the American doughboy who holded biggest in his vision of the great adventure overseas.

TRIBUTE TO YANKEE.

And now he comes back and gives the fruit of his impressions in a volume that will strike a responsive chord in every American heart.

The book is first and foremost a memorial to the fighting Yankee, a glowing tribute, written out of the fullness of experience. While in no sense a "war story," the work has true emotional value, but the emotion is that awakened in the heart of the reader by page after page of graphic anecdote and intimate detail.

It is the work primarily of a news writer of distinction, one quick to recognize the dramatic value of incidents which to the participant are but "all in the day's work." They are told in the finest, early style of the born raconteur, often in the picturesque speech of the fighting men.

No attempt has been made to give a chronological account of the war, and that has been done by other hands. Mr. Ford's work is a straightforward, unpretentious word-picture by a man who was in and of it—unpretentious, yet how gripping!

There is the story of Private Michael J. Perkins of South Boston—Mickey for short—who lost his life in an exploit which reads more like a "movie thriller" than the actual feat of a supposedly turned warrior. Single handed, with only a trench knife, he jumped into a German "pillbox" between machine guns out of communication, returned to his column, adorned with it, was wounded through the chest mortally, and was later killed by a shell as he was being rushed to a hospital.

BOSTON HERO UNAIDED.

The writer points out that Sergeant Alvin C. York of Tennessee, acclaimed as the "greatest hero of the war," was aided in his exploit by seven comrades, whereas the South Boston boy acted without assistance.

He was cited and a medal of honor was posthumously awarded, being received by the hero's father. Many such instances are given, but, as Mr. Ford points out, not all the heroes were heralded and sung.

"Hundreds of others," he says, "fought and died as bravely, even if their deeds were less spectacular, and right here I wish to pay homage to the Canadians of Australia, who went to soldier graves obscurely to whom unselfish gallantry and self-sacrifice and patriotism were dimmed only by the chaos of modern warfare. There is no 'Soldiers' Home' for example picture a truckload of gumdrops, soap and other 'goodies' coming into enemy land for the Army of Occupation. John J. Donovan, directing K. of C. work, did this good deed. It was the debut of cigarettes on the war front; the boys had been satisfied with sweet chewing and baited Mr. Donovan as 'Santa Claus.'"

Picture the soldiers singing this parody on a popular song, because there were so many Hales at Division Headquarters.

"Hale! Hale! the gang's all here.
Where in h—l is Edwards?"

Picture our own Colonel Logan and Colonel Frank M. Hume of the 103d Infantry sharing the same stateroom on the voyage home, referring to themselves as "The Hale Kids" and planning a vaudeville sketch entitled, How We Came Back."

VINDICATES OUR OFFICERS.

Of the shake-up in which these two and others in high command were removed and then reinstated, Mr. Ford writes briefly, emphasizing the complete vindication of the officers in question.

Some space is given to the part borne by animals in the war, especially the horses and mules, dumb and patient heroes, who gave themselves in a fight that was not their fight, and without whom the war could scarcely have been won.

It is impossible to touch upon the many fine points of Mr. Ford's book. Not a bulky volume, it is rich in intimate matter, all the fruit of first hand observation.

It will hold an honorable place amid the annals of the war.

OPEN BRIGHTON BABY CLINIC TOMORROW

The Instructive District Nursing Association will open a well baby clinic at 2:30 tomorrow afternoon at the North Brighton Community Center, No. 21 Lincoln street, North Brighton. The clinic will be held weekly, with Dr. Allen Cunningham in charge, and Miss Margaret Brandon, supervisor, and Miss Katherine Donovan, staff nurse of the Brighton-Allston Health Centre, in attendance.

No fee will be charged at the clinic, which is for the benefit of the mothers and numerous babies in the immediate neighborhood.

250 SOUTH END CHILDREN SENT TO FAIRYLAND

George Taylor bidding goodby to his little cousin, Eunice Porter, as he leaves for the Morgan Memorial Camp in South Athol.

Two hundred and fifty South End children "went away out west" to South Athol today, where most of them will spend the Summer as guests of the Morgan Memorial. They left from the Morgan Memorial Building in Shawmut avenue.

For most of the little people it was the first trip to anything like the real country, and was invested with all the charm and mystery of an expedition into a land new and strange. Some of them had never seen a pit of green.

The children were taken to the Memorial camp in South Athol in automobiles, where they were welcomed by Wellington C. Pixley. Their first demand, after the hearty welcome for food, and a wholesome meal had been made ready. The camp is 1,200 feet above sea level, and rapidly too warm. The children will be occupied in gardening, industrial classes and outdoor recreation.

PLANT SHOE STRIKERS VOTE TO REMAIN OUT

About 1,000 of the strikers of the Thomas G. BEATS UNCLE TO DEATH IN DUEL WITH CLUBS

Claremont, N. H., July 8.—Lauriel Weid of Cornish was beaten to death and his seventeen-year-old nephew, Clyde Shepard, arrested charged with murder, as the result of a duel with clubs between the two.

Weid, who was said to be intoxicated on homemade beer, was pursuing Shepard down and beaten by his oldest son, Arthur, after the women of the household had fled screaming with terror.

The man was struck on the side of the head, and fell to the ground, receiving other wounds according to the story told Deputy Sheriff Morrison and will be held the Grand Jury.

According to the police, Weid had manufactured some hop beer to celebrate the Fourth of July. The supply was soon exhausted, however, so that Shepard and Weid continued to drink it. Eventually he became angered at the women of the family about the house, tearing their clothing.

They took refuge with neighbors, where they were found by Weid two sons. The young men went home and attempted to calm down their father, but the boy-so says Shepard—threw whereupon Arthur knocked Father down and beat him severely. Then Weid arose and began to run, with Arthur and Shepard in pursuit. Young Shepard, who testified at the inquest, said:

"The man picked up a club, and as Weid attacked him struck the older man on the head, knocking him unconscious to the road.

PRINCE TO OPEN HIS $10,000 CAR LINE

Sharon Citizen Says He Intends to "Keep Town on the Map" and Prevent Losing Business

To "keep Sharon on the map," Frank A. Prince, a wealthy Boston leather merchant and public-spirited citizen of that town, has purchased the defunct Norwood, Canton & Sharon Street Railway, and is to open its two trolley cars on its three miles of track. Hourly service is to be installed. The road has not been in operation for eighteen months. Although he has plenty of automobiles and therefore does not resort to trolley cars when he wishes to travel, Mr. Prince has bought the street railway for $16,000 to help the people of the town. He believes the road will be an asset to the place, and will help prevent Sharon from slipping into obscurity.

Mr. Prince plans to put the road in operation as quickly as possible.

"It will be a road for the people," said Mr. Prince at his Boston office in Beach street. "I bought the road because I believe it will be an asset to the town of Sharon. I believe its operation is as necessary as the lighting of streets. That's why I purchased it. Its operation, in my opinion, will bring more taxpayers to the town and will be a great help to those already there.

GOT IT AT JUNK PRICE.

The selectmen of Sharon, of whom I am one, considered having the town purchase the road. We decided it would not be advisable, however, as there would be too much liability. I decided to buy it and I believe that some of the public-spirited citizens of the town will help me out by taking some of the stocks and bonds off my hands. Already two or three have told me they will put a few hundred dollars in to help along.

"I got the road at a junk price, paying only $16,000 to the Dominion Iron & Wrecking Company, which bought it for $18,000. That concern, after tearing up the tracks, sold the rails, $20,000, after tearing up three or four miles of track on the Norwood end of the line and junking it. The road cost $12,000 to $20,000 per mile to lay so I figure we will have got it very cheap. Anyway it will be worth the experiment of running it for a couple of years.

"There are 400 tons of rails worth $15,000 and there is $2,000 worth of copper, so I figure I will break even, at least, as the citizens of the town at a special town meeting last Wednesday voted to extend aid to the extent of $3,000 a year, if necessary, to meet any deficit that would result from operating it. It will cost $5,000 to $6,000 to put the road in shape and the town may have to come across for the full amount offered—the first year.

TOWN LOSING BUSINESS.

"The other day a man called up and wanted to take 400 children on an outing from Boston to Lake Massapoag, Sharon. Then he was told that the car line, which I have just purchased, was not running, he did not bother with the trip, so the town loses by such transactions.

"One car per hour will be operated by the street railway of which I am now the owner. They will ply between Gordon street, Sharon Heights and Canton Corner, Canton, a distance of a little over three miles, connecting at the latter point with the Blue Hill street Railway. As it will act as a feeder for the Blue Hill line I am to get power at a low cost from that company.

"I plan to extend the car line an eighth of a mile to Lake Massapoag and expect thereby to get much more patronage. Cars will be operated through to Canton Junction without extra charge.

Stopping at Cobbs Corner and that will give residents of Sharon a direct connection with good train service for Boston. The fare was formerly seven cents a ride on the line but I will probably increase it to ten to help pay expenses."

FINED FOR HITTING HIS WIFE IN FAMILY ROW

Patrick Smith of North Scituate was fined $20 by Judge Kelley in Hingham District Court today on assault and battery upon his wife. Smith claimed that his wife attacked his mother, and that he struck her in trying to separate them.

City Squares Named After Coolidge and Anslow

The City Council voted unanimously in favor of an order to have the junction of Charles and Cambridge streets named "Hamilton Coolidge square," in honor of Captain Coolidge and the 94th Aero Squadron, who was killed in action in France. Captain Coolidge was the son of J. Randolph Coolidge. The order was presented by Councilor Hagan.

The council also voted in favor of Councilor McDonald's order for naming the junction of Walk Hill and Norfolk streets "Anslow square," after Corporal George Anslow of the 26th Division, who gave up his life fighting the Huns.

Both orders will be passed upon by the Mayor's committee on street names.

PARENTS TO VISIT SON'S GRAVE IN FRANCE

Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Robinson of No. 28 Jason street, Arlington, whose son, Lieutenant Warren B. Robinson of C Company, 102d Machine Gun Battalion, died in France and whose body has buried overseas are on their way to France. They will spend four months in that country, in company with Dr. D. A. Robinson of Bangor, Me., a brother of Mr. Robinson, and Corporal Robert M. Irwin of Newtonville.

Corporal Irwin, who served under the late Lieutenant Robinson, will serve as courier and guide to the bereaved, and a visit will be made to the grave of Lieutenant Robinson.

LIONIZE READ AT BOSTON CITY CLUB

Lieutenant-Commander Albert Read, U. S. N., commander of the NC-4 on her epoch flight across the Atlantic, came to Boston today with Mrs. Read. The aviator attended a luncheon given in his honor at the Aero Club of New England in the Boston City Club at noon.

The hero of one of the most remarkable exploits in history is not cast in heroic mold physically. There is nothing suggestive of the "strong, silent man" about him. Not a inches or is his quiet, retiring manner. In build and bearing he resembles somewhat the lieutenant-colonel who is playing little Canadian "Joe" Asgoo.

Read has not yet received from the surprise that came to him after making his individual part in the record-breaking flight of the NC-4 and being hailed.

"Have seen myself in the movies on newsreels and in a battery of moving picture cameras opened fire on him in front of the Copley Plaza.

In the hotel lobby the lieutenant-commander held court, answering questions about his trip and aviation generally, even giving out a few statements personal to himself, but it was not until he reached the floor of the Britain dirigible No. 9, that he became himself again.

HAS PRAISE FOR R-34.

"That was a great feat," exclaimed, was caught a great flight against hours and hours and on. The fact that she was two days late in making her destination made her final success the more remarkable.

"Of all the types of aircraft which have already crossed the ocean the dirigible, in my opinion, is best adapted to transcontinental flying. It is safer for one thing and—well, if you're going somewhere by air, you're more likely to arrive there if you take a dirigible.

"The commercial possibilities of aircraft, and the dirigible in particular, seem to me to be limitless. I expect that within a few years our families will be making trips across by dirigible and will think nothing of it. If we push the development of aircraft with anything like the vigor with which we pushed it during the war, it will be in quite extensive commercial use within a very few years."

Lieutenant-Commander Read then expressed the hope that the United States government would follow the example of Great Britain and give every aid and encouragement to the development of aviation.

MAY FLY AROUND WORLD.

"Progress will be very, very slow if it is left to private interests to develop aviation, as dictated. Our present home and experience in aviation will not be realized unless the government maintains a constant interest in it.

"A flight around the world is now the goal toward which aviation will strive, Read said.

"It is possible in the present state of aircraft development, I think so, to go west of the Atlantic with a competent crew and plenty of spare parts, might be able to make the trip. And of course some day a non-stop flight around the world will be made. I would not venture to predict when that feat will be accomplished, but I expect to see it done some day.

Read said that much valuable information regarding meteorological conditions has been obtained on the Hawker, Alcock and Brown, R-34 and NC-4 flights, much remains to be done in this field before trans-Atlantic flying loses any of its dangers. He added that he considered it rather regrettable that there has been no loss of life in the trans-Atlantic flights so far.

Lieutenant-Commander Read is anticipating a big day tomorrow.

"I'm going to my old home town, South Hanson," he remarked. "Haven't lived there since my Naval Academy days, sixteen years ago, and haven't visited the place for two years. Guess I'll go to Old Ironsides' big motor, or in Washington to see if she won't come over."

?Has Anyone Seen? ? This Girl in ? ? Boston ?

Has anyone seen this girl? She is believed to be somewhere in Boston, while away down in Maine a big sister's love is reaching out to find and bring her home again.

An intense human story, with tragic possibilities is involved in the following letter, written to the American by the older sister in Bangor, Me. The names are withheld.

"Will you kindly publish these words for my sister, who left home Thursday, July 3, to go to Boston because she was discouraged. Tell her Big Sister is home now and longs to see her. I'll do anything to comfort her as I've been a mother to her since baby days.

"I have her and want her back. I came to relieve her of her troubles and found I was just twenty-four hours too late. I can't sleep. I worry for the little girl in the big city of Boston. Tell her to notify her sister at home address if she needs money to come home on."

PASS BILL TO PREVENT BUILDING GIANT TANKS

A bill to prevent a repetition of the molasses tank explosion in the North End which cost seventeen lives was passed to be engrossed in the Senate.

It makes it illegal for any person or firm to construct, maintain or use a tank or container with a capacity of more than 10,000 gallons for the storing of any fluids other than water, and provides a fine of $1,000 is a feature of this legislation.

The state police are empowered to make regulations governing the construction and maintenance of such tanks in future, subject to the approval of the governor and council.

2 U. S. SAILORS BADLY BURNED IN EXPLOSION

Acting Gunner's Mate S. N. Nesmith and I. H. Huntington, mess attendant first class, were seriously injured by an explosion of gun cotton primers as aboard the U. S. coast guard cutter Onondaga, 125 miles off Boston, it was announced at the Navy Yard today.

The cutter was bound for Halifax, and immediately went out on S. O. S. call. The destroyer Stevens was ordered from the Charlestown Navy Yard, and met the Onondaga 100 miles off shore. The two men were hurried to the Chelsea Hospital. Huntington was burned severely about the face, while Nesmith was badly burned about the face and arms.

ORIENT HEIGHTS BRANCH OF LEGION ORGANIZES

Other officers elected at a meeting in St. Joseph's church, Orient Heights, follow: John Perone, vice-commander; Frank Norton, adjutant; Joseph Carey, finance officer; Cyril Goodwin, historian and Fred K. Norton, George Hutchins and Arthur Lewis, executive committee. The Orient Heights Branch now has a membership of more than 150. Its next meeting will be held next Monday evening.

TO PERSONALLY INSPECT BOSTON'S MILK SUPPLY

Health Commissioner Woodward today announced that he intended to make a personal tour of the dairies which supply Boston with its 347,451 quarts of milk daily. At present there are six inspectors of the Health Department covering the field, but Dr. Woodward desires to get a "close up" of Boston's milk source.

Dr. Robert E. Doer, chief of the inspectors, will accompany the commissioner. Boston's milk supply extends northward as far as Camden, Me., near the Canadian line and to Vermont's western boundary.

12 Cats Kept by Bride Cause Honeymoon's End in Court

Clinton, July 8.—Too many cats ruin the honeymoon, according to Harry Zealian in Clinton District Court. The Zealians were married on May 17. It was her second marriage.

Zealian told Judge Smith that he did object to the twelve cats which his bride kept because they mewed and mooed over his food; and he stamped her by the arm in demanding that she put before him some fresh food, uncensored by the cats.

Mrs. Zealian, on the other hand, said her second husband became jealous because he found her preparing a bouquet for her first husband's grave. Also that he hit her twice.

Zealian paid $10 fine. Mrs. Zealian paid her husband's counsel $5 fee.

Newspaperman Tries To "Cover Story," Drops Dead

Forrest D. Cook of No. 182 Powder House boulevard, Somerville, for twenty-five years Somerville correspondent of the Boston Globe, died at his home today of stomach trouble. Just before his death what sounded like an explosion stirred the silence, and he struggled to leave the bed and "cover" the story, almost literally dying in harness.

Mr. Cook was born in Middleton, N. H., May 22, 1874. He is survived by his wife and three children. Beside representing the Boston paper, he was Somerville registrar of laborers, and acting assistant clerk of Somerville District Court. He was a member of Somerville Lodge of Elks.

The funeral will be Friday afternoon, and will be private. It will be preceded by the Elks' ritual at the house.

N. Y. IRISH LAUD HEARST PAPERS FOR AID

Editorial Support of Erin Victory Drive Praised by "Friends" Association

New York, July 8.—A large and well-attended meeting of the Thomas J. Clarke Association, branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom was held in the auditorium of St. Vincent Ferrer's Church, Sixty-ninth street and Lexington avenue. It was one of the most enthusiastic affairs ever held in the Yorkville district.

Harry Cunningham, president of the association, presided. Mr. Cunningham said:

"This is the time to show by a tremendous outpouring of our people that Yorkville is in the forefront for the dearest cause on earth—human freedom for the foremost champion of liberty."

After short addresses by the Rev. W. E. Mahoney, C. P., of St. Vincent Ferrer's Church, and Seumas O'Sheel, which were highly interesting and stirring, President Cunningham offered the following resolution, which was adopted by the 1,000 Irishmen and Irish women present.

"The Thomas J. Clarke Association, Branch of the Friends of Irish Freedom expresses its appreciation of the good work being done by the New York American and the New York Evening Journal in support of collections for the Irish Victory Fund. The editorials of June 19 in the Evening Journal and picture of Ireland appealing for freedom to America on the editorial page of the New York American of July 4, are particularly to be commended for their true American spirit. We also wish to go on record as denouncing the League of Nations."

Prof. Copeland Has Tales Shifted to Dodge Daylight

In order that his tales will be told by lamplight, Professor Charles T. Copeland of Harvard has inaugurated the 9 o'clock evening hour for his readings in the Harvard Summer School.

The daylight saving scheme interferes with the effectiveness of the readings, and the change making the lectures one hour later than in previous years has been favorably commented on. Professor Copeland's first reading, which takes place tonight in the New Lecture Hall, will be selected from the writings of Kipling.

WILLARD AS HIS OWN BOSS ACTED LIKE A NOVICE

By FAY

There were a lot of mistakes made by the champion of the world, Jess Willard, in the short period he was his own boss, but I don't suppose any of them will be more costly than the final one.

Willard had been stepping right along and doing well. Other people were making the money for him, and he was getting his share. It looked like a soft life for the champion.

Then he decided to be his own boss, and he was his own boss for a few days. Then he stepped into the office of Tex Rickard and said:

"Tex, I'm going to quit. I've had enough of this game. I'm going to retire."

Tex looked at him a minute and then said:

"Jess, you're a fool. You've got a big bank roll, but you'll be broke in a year if you don't keep working. Why, you're only a young man. You've got a lot of years ahead of you. Don't be a fool."

But Willard was determined to quit, and Rickard saw that he was, so he said:

"Well, Jess, if you're going to quit, I'll buy you out. I'll give you $50,000 for your share in the championship."

Willard thought it over and decided that he would take it. He figured that he could get a lot more than that for his title, and he was right. But he was a novice at the game, and he didn't know it.

Rickard wrote out a check for $50,000 and Willard signed over his title to Dempsey. Then he went out and started to spend the money.

He bought a big automobile and a fine home in Los Angeles, and he started to live like a millionaire. He had a lot of friends, and they were glad to help him spend the money.

Then he decided to go into business. He bought a big interest in a hotel in Los Angeles and started to run it. He was a novice at that game, too, and he didn't know it.

He had a lot of friends who were glad to help him run the hotel, and they did. They helped him run it right into the ground.

Willard was broke. He had lost his title, his money and his business. He was a novice at all three games, and he didn't know it.

Willard is a big man, and he has a big heart. He has a lot of friends, and they are glad to help him when he is in trouble. They are glad to help him spend money, and they are glad to help him lose money

WILLARD got a high-powered bum's rush.

FIRST time that his nose ever played tiddly-winks with the resin.

NOW the old boy knows how it feels to get stung by a nest of stuttering bees.

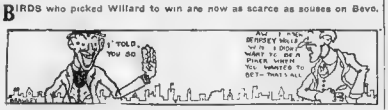
THANKS to the Ohio National Guard everybody got the seat that he paid for.

TOLEDO has shrunk like a dry sponge.

EVERY punch brought Jess nearer to the gate receipts. Experts claim they never piped a silly smile like Willard was packing. Probably never lamped a fox looking at a henhouse.

DEMPSEY is a cool cuckoo. Could thread a needle while riding on the B. & R. No rougher road than the B. & R. They have dining cars on that line, but the cooks can't serve anything but scrambled eggs.

BIRDS who picked Willard to win are now as scarce as souses on Bevo.



NO chance of Jess asking for a recount of the ballots.

DEMPSEY is a popular champ. They always are the first five minutes. No couple ever threw dishes on their honeymoon.

AFTER the first punch Jess thought the ring was a tight rope. Only one hoof on the wire at a time.

HOPE that Jack never gets ungrateful and forgets that he grabbed that title during the Democratic Administration.

WILLARD showed his gameness by sticking in the ring between the first and second rounds. Could have knocked off a hundred yards in sixty seconds.

WILLARD had the wrong sparring partners. Should have had the Tumbling Dooleys.

JESS was bouncing up and down like a skeeter trying to sting a rubber hot water bag.

RUMORS that Villa was at the ringside disguised as a wealthy garbage inspector from Barren Island.

Henry drew a sight shot on them, but on the point somewhat nearer where he had made his first plant of dynamite. When he pulled the trigger the intervening distance rose up in a cloud of smoke and the earth dust that obscured them. As the cloud slowly dissipated they could be seen, half of them animals and men, overthrown, and all of them dazed and shocked by the explosion.

Henry seized Leoncia's hand, jerked her to her feet and ran on sideways side with her. Conveniently [illegible] Henry drew her down, [illegible] to rest and catch breath.

COPPERS FIRM ON HOME EXCHANGE

Local Market Shows Few Changes During a Quiet Morning

At the outset the Boston market was irregular and a reflection of that in New York. But the day's price range was narrower. It did not broaden much during the morning. Coppers were firm, the strength in them showing the largest gains in the active and busy Miscellaneous list. The demand for copper is indicative. The Belgian government has decided to return to the distribution of all refined in this country. The reason is in that the section of all countries is the world. The report that Postmaster-General Burleson has tendered his resignation. President Wilson had a influence upon telephone stocks.

In the second hour the market was still irregular, but showed some changes in any degree. Fairbanks was somewhat in demand, being chiefly active and establishing a new record high price.

Among issues which were showing gains at the end of the morning were United Fruit, Northern, Studebaker, Calumet & Arizona, Davis-Daly and Rood & Van Derveer. They were up fractions to a point. Those included U. S. Smelting, Allouez, Waterline, Boston Elevated, Island Creek, Lake, Swift International, Warren Brothers, Carson Hill, Gray & Davis and Swift & Co. U. S. Smelting, Swift & Co., Swift International, Island Creek and Warren Brothers were off a point or more. There was nothing of a sensational character about speculation here.

Cotton Market Opened Firm

New York, July 8.—The cotton market was firm at the opening, a net advance of 15 to 33 points, in reflected trade and Liverpool buying. At the end of twenty minutes trading was quite active, with prices 18 to 30 points net higher. Opening prices were: July, 33.65; October, 33.00; December, 32.25; January, 32.15; March, 32.80; May, 32.70 bid.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, July 8.—Board of Trade opening prices were: Corn—July, 1.06; September, 1.06½ to 1.05; December, 1.01; Oats—July, 71½; September, 71¾ to 71¼; December, 73¾. Lard—September, 38.20.

Investor's Opportunity

If you can invest from one hundred to four thousand dollars or ten dollars to a hundred a month for ten months, I can show you how your money will earn not less than 8%—with possibilities of your getting a great deal better return, while becoming part owner in a successful and growing business of great future possibilities. Price Trend Is Indefinite During an Active Morning

By W. H. ROSS.
Financial Editor.

Stocks were irregular in New York in noon, but there were more to show gains than losses. The price trend was rather indefinite during the morning. After a mixed start the market grew strong and then showed a reactionary tendency. Uncertainty as to what would develop as to money rates was a deterrent to trading. The volume of business was large, first hour transactions totalling around 420,000 shares.

The call rate at noon was 9 per cent.

Strongest stocks at midday were Central Foundry preferred, American Beet Sugar, Atlantic Gulf, Stutz Motor, West Indies, Central Leather, Pan-American, Texas Company, Midvale Steel and Missouri Pacific. They were up a point or more.

U. S. Steel was off ¼ at 111¾. Crucible had declined 2¼ to 113¾, while General Motors had receded 1¾ to 238⅝.

MARKET GREW STRONGER SOON.

Irregularity marked price changes at the opening, with alterations ruling small. While there was less demand for securities than at the start yesterday, it was found also that the supply of stocks was limited. The market began to improve at once. Railroads were strong as a group, with Missouri Pacific, Reading and Texas & Pacific ner railway operations in the early trading. They were the most active carriers as well. For the fiscal year ended by May, Texas and Pacific net railway operating income amounted to $2,104,823, compared with $2,706,864 and federal rental of $4,107,423 in the preceding year. After showing a deficit on rail operation for the first four months of this year, this road was able to report $533,689 net for May.

OILS IMPROVED QUICKLY.

Oil issues were quick to improve and a number advanced materially, including Mexican Petroleum. It ascended more than four points within half an hour. Pan American soon sold at its highest record price. The clearness with which the forces in Mexico is said to cost oil companies operating in that country $1,000,000 a month.

Steels had a rather weak opening, but were showing gains as a class within half an hour. President James A. Farrell of the U. S. Steel Corporation says the steel industry has improved more than 30 per cent during the three weeks and that there is nothing but prosperity ahead of it and allied trades in this country.

SPECULATORS MORE CAUTIOUS.

More caution was exercised in speculative commitments when trading began today. The outline of loans at the preceding session and the advance of the call rate to 20 per cent, caused great uneasiness in trading circles. The idea obtained that for awhile at least banking authorities will take steps to prevent too much the market as soon as it develops runaway symptoms.

At the end of an hour the market was firm and on a little higher level. Issues which had advanced the most included American Locomotive, Baldwin, Atchison, St. Louis & San Francisco, the latter a launch of New York, White Motor, Stutz Motor, Marine common, Barrett, Midvale Steel and Corn Products. They were showing from one to three points advance. There were a few weak spots in the list. Industrial Alcohol was off a point and there were a number of fractional declines.

MAY RAIL EARNINGS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

The net operating income for May of railroads will approximate $28,000,000, when all reports are in, or at least this is estimated from those already at hand. It would be a big showing than for the four previous months in 1919. April net operating income was $25,000,000 only. The following table gives the net operating income for each month of the first five 1919 months, compared with the average for corresponding months of the three years 1916-18:

	1919	Average Three Years
May	$28,000,000	$37,000,000
April	25,113,000	47,780,000
March	30,106,000	47,201,000
February	19,764,000	38,828,000
January	25,734,000	43,000,000
Total	$128,717,000	$217,472,000

$212,579,000

For the first five months of 1918 net totalled $213,656,000 or $108,577,000 more than for the corresponding period this year.

INCOME AND EXCESS PROFIT TAXES FOR YEAR

Receipts of the United States Government for the fiscal year ended June 30 totalled $4,500,844,451, while expenditures amounted to $18,841,-248,035. Expenditures exceeded receipts by $13,342,-24. The deficit in receipts was nearly the total of gross economic annual receipts thirty years ago. In 1918 receipts totalled $733,-634,389 and expenditures $742,042,758.

For the fiscal year just closed income and excess profit taxes yielded the government $3,641,000,000, compared with $2,711,000,000 for the preceding fiscal year. $260,000,000 for the 1917 fiscal year and $122,000,000 for the 1916 period.

Government receipts from the tariff were only about $180,000,000 a year for each of the two year fiscal years. Prior to 1914 the tariff brought in a little more than $200,-000,000 a year.

Reserve Bank Earnings

Net earnings of the New York Federal Bank for the first half of 1918 were nearly 60 per cent of paid-in capital. For the year 1918 net earnings amounted to 112.6 per cent of average paid-in capital.

Official Suppression of News Is an Outrage Upon Democracy

The British authorities have arrested the representative of one of our largest American magazines for proposing to tell the American public the truth about conditions in the British colonies. This, unfortunately, is not an isolated incident. The clamps of censorship and of official guidance have grown with the habit of their use until no one here knows the real state of affairs in Europe today.

The fact of this suppression or coloring is not news to our more intelligent citizens, who are able to read between the lines the stories which occasionally leak out in the newspapers, and are thus able to piece the fragments of fugitive truth together.

But in a democracy the duty is not to inform the aristocracy of intelligence, but to inform the great democratic masses in whose hands are supposed to lie the power and the right to control the destinies of the nation.

Unfortunately the average man and woman has not yet learned to read between the lines. Not knowing the importance of examining a story to see whether what the writer of the story seeks to draw is justified by the facts which he recites, and without considering whether the facts which he recites are all the facts and nothing but the facts, the average readers of our newspapers swallow the story, inference, opinion, headlines and all, often without a second thought.

Thus it is that the vision of the world is beclouded today by a downpour of propaganda such as has never been witnessed before in the history of mankind. Almost every agency of corruption and bedevilment has its slander mill, its factory for the manufacture of counterfeit facts, its agents of misrepresentation, until today the whole world is in utter confusion, and no one knows the truth from falsehood about the most vital facts.

We have had, in times gone by, unofficial propaganda. The big corporations indulged in misrepresentation of the facts and used publicity agencies for the purpose of deceiving the democratic peoples concerning matters of vital interest to them. The railroads, under private management, operated a gigantic organization of propaganda for the purpose of raising rates and protecting themselves in a thousand intrigues and acts of lawlessness.

But now governments have gone into propaganda, and propaganda by governments is more dangerous a hundred times than propaganda by private agencies, for a government has a prestige which no private agency can possibly enjoy. People do not believe that governments will lie and misrepresent to their theoretical masters. Take, for example, the publication of the Sisson documents—a mass of fictions issued by the Government at Washington, pretending to show that Lenine and Trotsky were German hirelings.

The spuriousness of these documents, which had been hawked about Petrograd for months ere Washington printed them, was so patent that neither the French nor the English government dared to issue them in France or England, although challenged to do so. The purpose of publishing these misleading documents was to justify in the minds of the American people the invasion of Russia, a friendly country, whose people had done nothing against us, and who had laid down more lives in the war against Germany than the people of any other country. Everybody believed these forged documents to be true because the government issued them.

Moreover, the propaganda conducted by a government is more dangerous than private propaganda, for still another reason. Governments control the cables and exercise the power of censorship. By this means it can not only disseminate lies, but absolutely suppress the real news which would expose these lies.

Now, why is it of life and death importance that the American people should know the truth about conditions in Europe? Why is it of life and death importance to the young men of the United States today and tomorrow and the next day that the American people should know what is going on in Egypt and Mesopotamia and India and everywhere else in Europe and Africa and Asia?

The reason lies in Article 10 of the proposed League of Nations which President Wilson, Great Britain, France and Italy will ask the people of the United States, through the Senate, to ratify. By Article 10 of the League of Nations, the United States, if the Senate ratifies the league, undertakes, BY THE LIVES OF THE YOUNG MEN GIVEN IN WAR, to support the territorial integrity of Great Britain and France.

Great Britain, without right and contrary to international law, holds Egypt today. Her right in Egypt is legally not even so good as it is in Ireland, and the people of Egypt are as much opposed to the government of Great Britain as the people of Ireland. There is great turmoil in Egypt. Egypt is being held down by the power of the bayonet and machine gun. Within a few weeks the British government admitted that it could not carry out the pledge given at the last election to abandon conscription because the situation in Egypt and Ireland and India was so bad that the government had to have every soldier it could get, and it could not get volunteer soldiers enough. Mesopotamia, under the treaty of peace, will be seized by England and France, and the attitude of the people of this part of the world toward the violation of their right of self-determination is of the greatest importance for the American people to know.

Now, is it not clear how necessary it is for the American people to know what is going on in Egypt, Mesopotamia, India and Ireland?

Let every father and mother and sister and brother in the United States understand that by Article 10 of the League of Nations every young man between eighteen and forty-five is liable to be called into foreign military service to protect Great Britain and France in holding down oppressed peoples against their will—peoples the control of whom was obtained feloniously, and is being retained against all right, human or divine.

Assume, if we must, that the question of morals and of international right and justice is not to be raised against Article 10. Assume, for the sake of argument, that all pretence of public morals and of justice has disappeared from the world.

Assume that we did not wage this war to make democracy safe in the world and to put into operation the great principle of the right of self-determination by peoples, but that we used this phrase merely as propaganda, merely as one of the many new instruments of war—one of the means of stimulating the people to fight. Yet, aside from our right and duty to know whether, under Article 10, we are going to guarantee a violation of the right of self-determination, we must insist even to the point of impeaching whatever official would deny it, that we must know the truth, the whole truth, about conditions in Europe concerning such obligations as is contained in Article 10, because to guarantee the violation of this right against a people who are determined to resist might involve us in war as well as in dishonor.

Waiving all consideration of morals, putting the question purely upon a practical basis, was there ever anything so outrageous as this deliberate attempt to prevent the American people from knowing the extent and the nature of the obligation they are assuming when they are asked to pledge the lives of their young men by Article 10?

Are conditions so bad in Egypt that war is imminent?

Are conditions in Ireland so bad that war is imminent?

Are the conditions in India just as bad?

Are conditions in Mesopotamia equally impossible?

Are we pledging ourselves to immediate war and to further sacrifice of lives? That is the question.

That is what is involved in Article 10. And that is why this attempt to keep things from the American people is so atrocious; is such a travesty upon our theoretical democracy and makes the pretence that we have waged a war to make the world safe for democracy so hollow and grotesque.

Thunder Goes to Waste.
To Watch England Build.
Flying Finishing Touch.
High Cost of Death.

—By Arthur Brisbane—

(Copyright, 1919.)

Following dangerous riots, food prices in Italy have been cut in half, as peace of mind and peace of society depend on food supply. It would pay all nations to leave the cost of food not entirely to the ingenuity of price fixers.

They cut prices in half in Italy, after riots and the beginning of revolution. Other countries should regulate and hold down the cost of life before the riots break out. Since it is the business of government to keep the peace, it is government business to prevent profiteering that constantly menaces order and respect for law. There is a definite cost to food production, easily ascertainable and there is a reasonable profit which should be earned, and no more.

The government lost no time regulating prices in war, and proved that it could be done. If it can be done in war, it can be done in peace. And Italy has learned that it is as important in peace as in war. We might learn from Italy.

The President comes home today. He will find many fights, bitter animosities awaiting him, and a Republican party controlling the law-making machinery, determined to make him or his candidate impossible in 1920.

Mr. Wilson will be able to say at least, that Europe knew he was there. His fourteen points were discussed, praised and denounced fourteen million times. All of Europe sent its biggest men to Paris. The man this country sent held the centre of the stage from the beginning to the end. No one tried for a moment to overlook him, or to make plans without him. Think as you please about his work there, you will admit that the President of the United States proved himself powerful and determined enough to hold his own in the greatest gathering, the deepest intriguing and most savage striving that the world has ever seen.

Is there any good reason why this country should sit back and watch England build up the greatest power in the air as she has long built the greatest power at sea? She has sent a sample of her flying craft to our "air port" on Long Island and is busy now building airships twice as big as the dirigibles she sent to us. And this country has a Congress busy cutting down the appropriations on which our flying machine development depends.

We had hundreds of millions for the financial heroes of self-named Hog Island. We have seven hundred and fifty millions as a starter to give the private owners of railroads, after continuing their incomes at government expense all through last year. We have thousands of millions to spend on ships paid for by the public and then turned over at half cost to private individuals for exploitation. But we cannot afford money to keep up with other nations in airship work.

And it is upon the flying ship that this country must depend for safety in the future.

The trouble with ocean flying, says the British sky pilot, is the thunderstorm, which breaks out when it pleases, and is hard to manage.

Thunderstorms are to the air, apparently, what rapids and cataracts are to rivers. Many rivers have been made quiet and navigable by engineering work. Hell Gate in New York was changed from a dangerous death trap to a safe passage way by the use of dynamite on rocks.

Men, some day, will do engineering work in the air that will make that great ocean safe from thunderstorms.

In the thunderstorm electric force stored in the clouds comes rushing back to earth, a great electric battery. It comes now at random, violently, destructively, and great forces go to waste that might be used. When men have finished with other things, they will look into that surplus accumulation of electric force in the air and arrange to bring it down in an orderly, quite industrial fashion using and storing the power instead of letting it go wasted back into the earth.

Similarly, also men will use day use for irrigation and power the waters of our great rivers, instead of letting them run wasted back to sea, carrying thousands of cubic miles of fertile earth to be lost out in the ocean.

There is much that is gruesome in profiteering. Adding a cent a quart to the price of milk, occasionally, fills many small white coffins and booms the casket industry as well as the milk trust profit.

But of all gruesome business details read of the most gruesome, which shows how the high cost of living affects everything, even death:

They have doubled the wages of the public killer in New York State. He was getting fifty dollars for every murderer that he officially killed. Once the State paid two hundred and fifty dollars for an electric killing, when it was a novelty and science asked a high price for degradation.

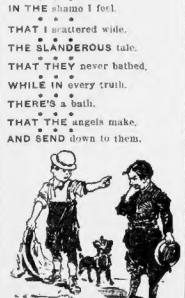
By K. C. B.

I REMEMBER very well,
AND PERCY Dunn told me,
THAT CRAWFORD Goffat told him,
THAT IT was Freddie Pellatt,
WHO BORED the three holes,
IN THE Thompson boat,
WHEN OLD Mr. Thompson,
WENT TO the bottom.
AT THE end of the wharf,
AND HAD to climb out,
AND CAUGHT such a cold,
THAT FOR all of three weeks,
THEY HAD to rub goose grease,
ALL OVER his chest,
SO HE could breathe,
AND AT eighty years old,
IT'S TROUBLE enough,
EVEN WITHOUT goose grease,
AND, ANYWAY,
I TOLD Sidney Elliott,
WHAT PERCY Dunn told me,
AND I'LL say for Sidney,
HE WAS the fastest messenger boy,
I EVER saw;
FOR IN less than an hour,
FRED PELLATT knew,
THAT I had accused him,
OF SINKING Mr. Thompson,
AND IN less than another hour,
I WAS going home,
WITH A temporary hair lip,
AND A permanent intention,
TO BE more careful,
AND I have been,
UNTIL A few days ago,
WHEN A man wrote
AND SAID in his letter,
THAT FOR forty years,
HE HAD known wrens,
AND THEY never bathed,
AND I printed it.

AND IT isn't true,
BECAUSE THEY do,
AND THEIR bath is pure,
AND UNDEFILED.
FOR I saw this morning,
WITH MY own eyes,
JUST AT the hour,
WHEN THE sun came up,
OUR JENNY wren,
SEEK OUT a place,
WHERE THE dew lay deep,
IN GREAT cupped leaves,
AND THERE she bathed,
IN AS grand a bath,
AS WAS ever made,
FOR A Fairy Queen,
AND THE other birds,
JUST TOOK their turns,
IN A tin pan bath,
THAT I'VE fixed with rocks,
AND HERE and now,
TO OUR Jenny Wren,
AND TO all of her tribe,
I BOW my head,
IN THE shame I feel,
THAT I scattered wide,
THE SLANDEROUS tale,
THAT THEY never bathed,
WHILE IN every truth,
THERE'S a bath,
THAT THE angels make,
AND SEND down to them.



I THANK you.

DECISIVE DATE IN ROCKLAND.

The court fine for intoxication in Rockland, Me., is $5.84. But Judge Frank B. Miller announces that on and after July 15 the fine will be doubled and court costs will be added, making the offender's total assessment nearly $11. His Honor figures that it costs more to run a court now, for one thing, and that a chap who can afford $8 a quart for liquor can stand a stiffer fine.

HAS-BEENS.

Switzerland has more ex-Kings, et cetera, than a Swiss cheese has holes. They are about as useful, too. The press account of Prince Nicholas of Greece includes this startling sentence: "He walks a good deal on the lake side with a huge monocle in his right eye—his one extravagance." Meaning, presumably, the monocle, not the right eye. Even an exiled Prince is entitled to his eyes. The high cost of exile is wearing upon all the shelved royalties, particularly upon ex-King Constantine of Greece. He tried to borrow 6,000,000 marks from Germany. But Germany declined to lend a mark—or be one.
